OWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—A vice president and two other employees of Link Aviation Inc. were killed Monday night when a twin-engine company plane crashed in storm-swept hills about 3 miles east of this Southern Tier community.

Two other Link executives were injured.

The wreckage of the plane was discovered shortly before dawn today.

The three killed were: Arthur F. Carl, 46, of Vestal, vice president of manufacturing.

Clarence E. Dougherty, 51, of Chenango Bridge, chief corporate pilot.

Co-pilot Herbert F. Chamberlain, 62, of Johnson City.

The injured, reported in fair condition at Lourdes Hospital in nearby Binghamton, were Paul Wagner, 41, of Silver Springs, Md., and Byron Brokaw, 58, of Vestal. Wagner is controller of Link's Riverdale, Md., Division.

Brokaw is executive assistant to the president of Link, a subsidiary of General Precision Equipment Corp.

Federal Aviation Agency officials said the flight of the Beechcraft originated in Baltimore and was enroute to nearby Endicott.

The crash occurred as thunderstorms raked this region, west of Binghamton where Link is based.

State Police said the plane crashed near Cofferly Hill Road and Bort Hill Road.

Has 300 Proposals

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Elizabeth Freedman says she isn't accepting any more marriage proposals. She already has more than 300 of them.

The 19-year-old sophomore at the University of Pennsylvania also says she has given up the idea of getting married as a means of getting out of a dormitory which she shares with some 150 other girls.

Miss Freedman placed an ad in the college newspaper last week seeking a husband as the only means to get out of the dorm. She claimed the girls were a distraction to her studies.

Only married coeds, or seniors, are allowed to live outside the dorm.

A college spokesman Monday described Miss Freedman as "an exhausted girl" and said she is in seclusion and not accepting any more phone calls.

The spokesman, however, relayed this comment from her: "I think we can work out a solution less drastic than marriage."

There are approximately 8,000 daily newspapers produced each day throughout the world, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The educational level of the entire population in the United States continues to rise, says The World Almanac. In 1964, 50 per cent of all Americans 25 years old or over had completed at least four years of high school. Approximately 10 per cent of the same group had completed four or more years of college. In 1947, the comparable figures were 33 per cent for high school and 5 per cent for college.

Stratton Acts to Prevent Any Defacing of Capitol

deals to Congress to prevent the Capitol architect from putting into effect "grandiose plans for destroying and defacing the Capitol."

The Amsterdam Democrat urged Congress Monday to approve an engineering study to determine what repairs are needed on the Capitol's west front. Stratton said the study was an alternative to proposals by J. George Stewart Capitol architect.

Stratton said cost estimates of the Stewart project range up to $34 million. "Who is running this show," he demanded in a House speech, "the Congress or one of its hired hands?"

Stratton said the American Institute of Architects has reported any damage to the West Front can be corrected without the necessity for the controversial project suggested by Stewart.

Meanwhile, Stratton introduced an amendment to the Highway Beautification Act that he was said was "desperately needed" to protect the tourist industry.

The words are from Hebrews 11:16. But an announcement from Pearson's office Monday said the source was Hebrews 12:16.

That verse reads: "Lest there be any fornicator, or profane person, as Esau, who for one morsel of meat sold his birthright."

His proposals include reducing the minimum distance for signs from 660 to 350 feet from highways and giving the states authority to create special zones in which signs may be displayed closer than 350 feet.

"Everybody, I'm sure, is for highway beauty," he said. "We can think of spots that have been harmed by too many signs and billboards bunched closely together."

"But what disturbs me is that unless tourists in New York State have a chance to know, a mile or two in advance, that a motel or a restaurant is coming up, we New Yorkers stand to lose a great deal of our tourist business."

His proposals include reducing the minimum distance for signs from 660 to 350 feet from highways and giving the states authority to create special zones in which signs may be displayed closer than 350 feet.

Wants Aden Hostile to U. S., Britain, Israel

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
TA'IZZ, Yemen (AP) — The head of South Arabia's leading nationalist movement says his goal is an Arab "Socialist revolutionary" state that will be anti-British, anti-American and anti-Israeli.

Mild-mannered Abdul Qawee Mackawee, 47, former chief minister of the Aden Protectorate, told newsmen: "We will form a progressive government in the truest sense of the word. We will be an Arab Socialist republic. Our policy will be hostile to Britain, the United States and Israel alike."

One From FLOSY

Mackawee is secretary-general of FLOSY, the Front for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen, the leading terrorist movement in Aden and the adjoining sheikhdoms which form the British-protected South Arabian Federation. Britain wants to pull out of the territory next year to save money.

FLOSY's exiled leaders are meeting at their headquarters in the Yemen republic's second largest city to discuss establishment of a government in exile. Mackawee's strong anti-Western statement surprised American officials who have maintained informal contacts with FLOSY in the hope of deflecting its future policies in a less anti-Western direction.

Mackawee described Israel as a pawn of Western imperialism in the Middle East and said a FLOSY regime in Aden "will certainly close the southern entrance to the Red Sea to Israeli shipping." The Western end of the protectorate commands the narrow channel between the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aden.

Only One Party

FLOSY says it will set up a one-party unitarian state, the South Arabian Republic. Financed and encouraged by President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic, the movement is committed to de-

Possibly Both

Dodd Censure Or Condemnation May Be Result

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee has tentatively decided that censure or condemnation — and possibly both — is the punishment it will recommend for Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, sources close to the panel report.

Meeting privately in a hideaway office at the Capitol, the bipartisan committee which investigated misconduct charges against the Connecticut Democrat has abandoned all other possible forms of rebuke, these sources said.

Near Climatic Stage
Earlier this month it was learned the committee would recommend neither expulsion nor censure of Dodd. The full Senate makes the final decision.

The six-member Select Committee on Standards and Conduct resumes its secret deliberations today, which one source said are reaching the climatic stage.

The committee reportedly is still debating which term — censure or condemn — is the stronger and whether the stronger should be used.

Knowledgeable sources willing to discuss the committee deliberations — and they were few — refused to indicate which aspects of Dodd's conduct would be specified as the basis for proposed Senate punishment.

In two sets of open hearings, the committee has heard testimony on Dodd's financial affairs and his relationship with Chicago public relations man Julius Klein, once a registered agent for West German business interests.

Dodd has denied wrongdoing. In his most recent statement April 14, Dodd said, "I have received many evidences that the people of Connecticut, in their overwhelming majority, believe that I have misrepresented them effectively and honestly."

Dodd Not Available
Dodd could not be reached for comment on the latest report of committee deliberations. Nor could committee Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., be contacted. He has refused to discuss the case publicly.

Dodd has been accused of: —Converting to his personal use the proceeds of testimonial dinners which raised nearly $190,000. Dodd has acknowledged he used testimonial money to pay off debts and meet what he called "personal-political expenses."

But he has insisted the testimonial donors intended the money as a personal gift, to be used as he saw fit, not as political contributions.

—Billing the Senate for official travels, and charging his expenses to private organizations, as well, thus receiving double reimbursement. Dodd has blamed this on a bookkeeper-turned-accuser, whom he accused of sloppy work.

—Using his position as a senator, to help Klein keep West German business clients. Dodd has denied any impropriety in his relationship with Klein.

Senate sources said that at this point the Ethics Committee is sifting through the testimony and evidence amassed during more than a year of investigation.

The choice of an exact course to be recommended in its formal report awaits completion of this task. In effect, one source said, the material now being discussed is the supporting evidence for the course that will be recommended to the Senate.

This official said the crucial facet of the committee report, a resolution to be recommended to the Senate, has been set aside until the discussions of supporting data are completed.

Some Disagreement
The deliberations were said to have been marked in part by disagreement over the impact of the two words, censure and condemn.

One source said there is a difference of opinion, not only on which word would constitute the stronger rebuke, but, once that can be determined, on whether the stronger word is indeed preferable.

The committee which investigated the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., voted to censure him, but the Senate instead chose the word "condemn."

Stennis maintained at that time that condemn was the stronger word.

Four former Dodd assistants demanded in a letter April 4 a new round of hearings, charging the public inquiry has not covered "the heart of the Dodd case."

The four, James P. Boyd, Michael V. O'Hare, Marjorie Carpenter and Terry Golden, have admitted taking documents from Dodd's files and turning them over to columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson. The columns that resulted led to the Senate inquiry.

"Sen. Dodd used hundreds of thousands of dollars in contributions for his personal use," their letter said. "However, it was not shown how he exploited his office as a U.S. senator to encourage these donations and to reward benefactors."

Committee members said the accusations in that letter had been covered in closed hearings and staff investigations. It was not clear whether the allegations involved would be covered in the committee report, although one source indicated this may be done.

Bondsmen Mixed Up
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Leaders of open-house marchers asked all the demonstrators to fill out cards with their names and addresses Monday night.

A leader explained that bail bondsmen had gotten demonstrators and hecklers mixed up when some of each were arrested Friday night, and inadvertently had provided bond for two of the hecklers.

A lawyer for the demonstrators did the same thing. He obtained a continuance of the cases of two other hecklers in police court.

Officials Work On Staff Lists During Recess

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Officials of the Constitutional Convention worked to complete staff assignments today as the delegates began a nearly three-week break from formal meetings.

Bulk of Work

The administrative tasks consisted largely of selecting key personnel to fill vacancies on the 16 standing committees that are expected to do much of the convention's work.

Along that line, both Convention President Anthony J. Travia and Minority Leader Earl W. Brdzydes urged the delegates Monday to utilize the time until the Convention meets again May 8 to formulate specific plans for consideration by the full group.

Travia and Brdzydes declared the time should not be considered as a recess but rather as a period during which committees would meet and public hearings would be held to consider ideas aimed at revamping the state's basic document.

The instructions from the leaders came near the end of a 45-minute working session — the fourth since the convention began April 4 — in which the Republican minority illustrated the split over the basic approach to the Convention between the GOP and the Democrats.

Delegate Gordon A. Howe, R-Rochester, introduced a proposition that would reduce the section in the Constitution dealing with voting rights from about 1,350 words to 255 words.

Chief feature in the proposal calls for lowering the voting age from 21 to 18. Howe said the shorter version was "an example of how the Constitution may be rewritten without sacrificing the inherent rights of the people."

Keeps It Bottled

His remarks apparently were directed at a resolution submitted last week by William J. vanden Heuvel, D-Manhattan, calling for the convention's delegates to commit themselves to a complete redrawing and simplification of the state's charter.

Travia, the top Democrat in the convention and the Legislature, agrees with vanden Heuvel but kept the resolution bottled in committee Monday, apparently to head off a possible floor fight early in the session.

The Republicans — and some Democrats — have expressed doubts about committing the delegates to a specific course at this time. Brdzydes, the ranking GOP member, has said he believes such action would be premature.

Delegate Richard J. Bartlett of Glens Falls, a former Republican assemblyman, said Howe's proposal was a "marvelous example of the direction this convention will take."

Expresses Doubts
Bartlett said he had personal doubts over the wisdom of lowering the voting age and a source said that view was shared by some other GOP members.

Convention Majority Leader Moses Weinstein also submitted a measure to reduce the voting age from 21 to 18. Weinstein, a Queens Democrat, also is majority leader of the Assembly.

All of the measures were referred to various committees as the delegates took no formal votes Monday.

In other developments: —Delegate Charles D. Henderson, R-Hornell, an assemblyman, submitted a proposal redrafting the section dealing with canals. Henderson said the measure reduced the wordage from 700 to 100 "without losing anything."

County Share $6.7 Million In School Aid

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt today announced the distribution of state aid for education totaling $700,887,857.52 to the school districts of the state as the state's share in the support of public schools. Ulster County is scheduled to receive $6,791,008.74.

The payments to cities, villages and supervisory districts represents the balance of state aid due them on the basis of statistics for their 1965-66 school year. The county received $2,200,803.19 for supervisory districts and $4,590,205.55 for cities and villages.

Soviet Increase Of Aid to Viet Jeopardizes Pact

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today the Soviet Union has made "a new ball game" of proposals to boost East-West trade by agreeing with Communist China to step up the flow of war materials to North Vietnam.

"This puts a new light on President Johnson's recommendation for legislation to authorize freer trade with the Soviets," Dirksen said, "I don't think Congress is going to be very hapov to do that at a time when the Russians are increasing military help for the North Vietnamese."

Reach Agreement

U.S. officials disclosed last week that the Soviets and Communist Chinese had reached agreement on handling of Soviet shipments to North Vietnam. The Soviets earlier publicly accused China of holding up supplies intended for use in the war.

Dirksen said in an interview

he is convinced a majority of both houses now opposes any relaxation of trade barriers, although Johnson has said this would not affect the system of controls on export of strategic goods.

"Who can say with any certainty what is strategic and what is not?" Dirksen asked. "Anything we may sell them could permit them to divert more of their industry to making war goods."

Dirksen said weekend antiwar demonstrations in New York City and San Francisco are likely to strengthen the position of those in Congress who want the war prosecuted more vigorously. Few among them will favor any East-West trade increase under such circumstances, he said.

Hits Expansion

In line with this, Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., told the Senate Monday there should be no expansion of trade until the Vietnam shooting stops. He said he couldn't understand proposals for such increases at a time the Soviet Union and Communist China are pouring supplies into North Vietnam.

Cotton's statement signaled powerful opposition to a move by Sens. Thurston B. Morton, R-Kv., and Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., to drum up bipartisan support for the lowering of East-West trade barriers.

Magnuson, who heads the Senate Commerce Committee, and Morton, its second-ranking Republican, took the unusual step last week of announcing in a joint statement that the panel soon will begin East-West trade hearings.

Morton thus detoured around Cotton, who is the top-ranking Republican on the committee. Cotton made it plain he didn't like it.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, APRIL 18, 1967

POWELL RIDES AGAIN

The people of Harlem returned Adam Clayton Powell to Congress at the special election and now the House is faced with the problem of what to do about him. His failures to step foot in the district during the campaign, because to do so would have subjected him to arrest for contempt of court, did not seem to concern the voters at all.

When Congress decides what to do with Powell, it must take into account this fact, for it is also deciding on the representation of this particular community. Harlem knew of Powell's conduct, but voted seven to one for his return. Congress can revile him, it can condemn him, it can fine him for the public moneys a bipartisan investigation committee found he had misused, it can deprive him of his seniority, but it should not expel him again. For Harlem will only vote him back, again and again, indefinitely.

Perhaps the solution is to swear in Powell, then ask him to stand aside, at full pay but without an office, staff or duties, while the House debates his case. Then he can return to Bimini and bask in the sun until the end of this session. But Harlem would be unrepresented, and that is not fair to Harlem.

HIGHEST FIRE DEATH RATE

The fact that the United States has the highest per capita death rate from fires of any of the world's major nations is stirring Congress to action. It is not that Americans are callous to death by fire, or that firemen are negligent. The type of buildings and the congestion here are added hazards.

Acting Under Secretary of Commerce J. Herbert Holloman told the Senate Consumer subcommittee that, in 1965, more than 12,000 lives perished and $1.75 billion in property was lost. The rate was twice Canada's, four times Britain's and six and a half times Japan's, where paper walls are used extensively in home building.

Congress is considering the Fire Research and Safety Act of 1967, to combat what President Johnson termed "our shameful loss of life and property resulting from fire." It would set up a coordinated Federal program to find out how fires start and to develop improved methods, techniques and training programs for fire prevention and control—much as the FBI does in police work.

Once again, a purely local function may come under Federal control for lack of money for research and fire-fighting training and equipment. If adopted, as it seems likely, it would be the 400th grant-in-aid program for states and localities.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES

New York Catholic Charities will embark on its annual fund appeal from April 23 through May 3 in the 416 parishes of the New York Archdiocese. Solicitation of special gifts from individuals in business and the professions now is in progress. The total fund goal is $3,700,000.

Catholic Charities as a community agency devotes more than two-thirds of its contributed funds to the welfare of families and children. During 1966, 551,858 persons of all ages, races and creeds benefited by the varied services and programs offered by Catholic Charities and its federation of 203 health and welfare agencies and institutions, whose combined annual operating expenses are in excess of $100 million.

One of the new steps taken by Catholic Charities during the past year to meet the special needs of children and their families was the opening of a new out-patient child guidance clinic and day care services for emotionally disturbed children by the Astor Home, psychiatric treatment center in Rhinebeck.

New York Catholic Charities predicated its social services on the deep conviction that the greatness of America is rooted in the strength of its homes and families. Existing families to stay together in the face of strains and pressures which characterize today's home life and sparing children the emotional handicaps inflicted by the loss of their homes remained in 1966 at the core of all its endeavors.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

GOVERNOR RHODES' CREATIVE LOCALISM

Governor George Romney of Michigan got back into the Presidential sweepstakes by his relatively hawkish Hartford, Connecticut, speech, and thereby deflated the underdog Nelson Rockefeller boom. But handsome George still has a long way to go. The probability, as Barry Goldwater said the other Sunday, is that Romney and Nixon will move into the convention with 400 votes each. The rest of the votes will be in the pockets of the favorite sons. So the control of the convention could be in the hands of three particularly powerful favorites from California, Texas and Ohio. The trend could ride on the determination of California's Reagan, Texas's Senator Tower, and Ohio's Governor Rhodes. If they stick together, they could own the future.

People have heard a lot about Reagan and Tower, but outside of Ohio they know little about Rhodes. In his own state, as I learned last week on a trip to Youngstown, Rhodes is considered a mighty man. They say that he has already done what Ohio what Reagan has promised to do for California. Rhodes is credited with cleaning up the financial mess dating from the Mike Di Salle era. And now, quietly, he is trying to find a way of keeping money in the state for public approved purposes without waiting for Washington to end the apparently interminable debate on whether the U.S. Treasury should pass back a percentage of federally collected taxes to the various state capitals.

One Rhodes' proposition is to permit counties and municipalities to issue tax-exempt revenue for approved industrial and business developments. Local improvement corporations would be created to carry out the projects, and public officials who wish to participate either by ownership or contracting would be exempted from the present state conflict-of-interest laws. The reason for the exemption is that in small communities that have part time mayors and councilmen the public officials are often the leading enterprisers. Without their participation, nothing in some small communities would move.

By using the tax-exempt bond device for improvement corporations, Ohio would, in effect, be getting money from Washington by the simple expedient of withholding it at the source. The Secretary of the Treasury, Henry Fowler, with an eye on his own federal balance sheet, frowns on the extension of such practices. Inasmuch as the federal government has a host of past projects still to pay for, Mr. Fowler's worries are understandable. But a proliferation of local developments in Ohio would certainly help take that state off Washington's neck. Governor Rhodes has offered creative localism as an offset to creative federalism, and if creative localism could be made to flourish there would be less need for federal tax sharing with the states.

Governor Rhodes doesn't go in for ideological pronouncements, and so he has escaped being placed on the Left-Right spectrum. But his actions stamp him as a pragmatic conservative. By making use of revenue bonds to start new projects, Governor Rhodes would take both the local taxpayer and Washington, D. C., off the hook. This is quite in line with the thinking that undergirds Ronald Reagan's Creative Society. But in Ohio they don't have any fancy name for it. The Buckeye State might call it Creative Localism (capital letters, please) and take it from there.

The predictions are that if Romney and Nixon become deadlocked in the 1968 convention, Senator Percy of Illinois — or, possibly, New York's Nelson Rockefeller — will be the choice of the smoke-filled rooms. But if the economic and social thinking of Rhodes, Reagan, and Senator Tower of Texas should prove stronger than the temptation to make political deals, the next Republican nominee will surely not be a Big Government liberal. If a compromise choice is necessary to break a Nixon-Romney standoff, it could very well be Governor Rhodes himself. By keeping clear of labels, and showing what can be done by local initiative without talking ideology, he has avoided making the enemies that Reagan and Tower have made. Yet, since the pudding's proof is still in the eating, Rhodes could be very acceptable to Tower and Reagan followers.

The word from Ohio is "watch Rhodes." He could be a most available Dark Horse, carrying the colors of Creative Localism into the race. (Copyright, 1967, King Features Syndicate Inc.)

Washington News

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Johnson is unlikely to follow his visits to Latin America and Asia with an early trip to Western Europe.

Vice President Humphrey may have made points for himself and his country with his cheerful endurance of insult and his knowledgeable exposition of U. S. policies on his European venture. Yet there is no firm evidence he was blazing a trail for LBJ.

The President also suffered displays of public hostility last fall in Asia. But, at least in Australia, he had the satisfaction of knowing his government hosts were outspokenly in support of U. S. policies in Southeast Asia.

The word Humphrey brought back from Europe is that several national leaders privately back those same policies but refrain generally from saying so publicly in fear of harsh assault from noisy left-wing elements.

These leaders' timidity is not seen here as encouraging the President to undergo the possibly more than minor ordeal of riding through "insult alley" in Rome, Paris, London and other capitals. Against the backdrop of his visits elsewhere, a pointed delay by Johnson in visiting Europe obviously will not please our allies there. Right now they are highly sensitive to what they consider U. S. neglect of their problems and needs.

On this side, however, a substantially held view is that too many Europeans are neglectful of the world beyond their borders.

This country is being chided, perhaps properly, for not taking account of major changes in Europe—enlarged economies, relaxed Soviet pressures, revived nationalisms. But the American rejoinder is that Europe's consequent inward-turning does not wipe out global problems.

It is we who now shoulder these. Europeans dazzled by new cars and television sets meantime brand our attention to Vietnam and other trouble spots as best incompetent fiddling and, at worst, "criminal" meddling in the affairs of others far from their own secure shores.

Actually, these attitudes should stir no surprise. The peril of Hitler was on French and British doorsteps, yet in 1938 British Prime Minister Chamberlain—amid the pre-Munich crisis over Czechoslovakia—could find his nation: "How horrible, fantastic, incredible it is that we should be digging trenches and trying on gas masks here because of a quarrel in a faraway country between people of whom we know nothing!"

Europeans, and American liberals, deny any parallel between that era and the present trials in Asia. To accept a parallel is to admit old failures, written in the blood of millions by men bent on "peace."

When Hitler in 1936 sent troops into the demilitarized German Rhineland, Britain's Lord Lothian said: "After all, they are only going into their own back garden." Because they did, 201,000 Frenchmen, 357,000 Britons and 405,000 Americans died in World War II. Nine million Germans and Russians were added to the toll.

With the aim of barring another holocaust, this country sent 54,000 men to die in Korea and has already lost 9,000 in Vietnam.

Sitting in lands made safer by U. S. might, either used or brandished gravely as in the 1962 missile crisis in Cuba, many Europeans rail at our Asia undertakings as evidence of the brutal "arrogance of power."

Lyndon Johnson, observing these latest responses from people with neither the power nor the inclination to help keep world equilibrium, may very well record the sounds from Europe as indicating the "arrogance of impotence and indifference."

Journey Through the Mine Fields

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Nineteen years ago, Milton Berle dominated television. On Tuesday evenings, when his Texaco Star Theatre lifted its curtain, the streets of towns across the United States were empty. His glib, brassy chatter; tongue sticking out of the side of his mouth; his countless jokes; the way he cut in on other acts, and his closing rendition of "Near You" made him the star of stars.

A year ago, I saw Berle hammering it up on a Los Angeles bowling alley. There was something depressing about it—like seeing Charles Laughton reading Shakespeare in a subway station, or Toscanini leading an orchestra in Roseland, or Gleason ushering at the Paramount. A few days ago, Mr. B. stopped by. At the age of 58, he's starting in a Zev Bufman road company of "The Impossible Years."

He should be older. He wears glasses, the rabbit teeth are intact, and the thinning hair now grows from left to right. Mr. Berle is healthy, nervous and smokes a dozen cigars a day. He's as solvent as soap.

Berle was born and raised on West 118th Street in Harlem. His father was Moses Berlinger, a paint and varnish salesman. His mother, Sadie Glantz Berlinger, was stage-struck. She had five children and, knowing that motherhood would never make her rich, she pushed him. At the age of five, Milton was tossed from a train in a Pearl White serial filmed at Fort Lee, N. J.

He attended a Catholic school between castings. The students were rough, but the nuns were rougher. "It was a smart move to put me in there," Milton says. "They wouldn't hit a Jewish kid." The moment Milton comprehended Mother's message of stardom and fame, he went after it like an ugly girl alone with the last man on earth.

Milton invented jokes; bought jokes; and stole them. Stealing was cheaper. Walter Winchell called him The Thief of Badgag. What other comics called him is another matter. The only time he was ever off-stage was when he was getting his tonsils out.

In the trade, he was known as a fast man for hopping onstage when the star was sick, or hung-over. Milton could do the other man's act better. He was starring on Broadway when he was barely out of his teens. His vice was never women or liquor. It was horses. Over the years, Berle lost $2,500,000 trying to outsmart the outbarners. He kicked the habit 11 years ago.

Everywhere he went, Sadie went. When Milton hit the heights, she changed her name to Sandra. She was still stage-struck when she died. Her son always introduced her from the stage. Mrs. Berle, wrapped in mink and sable, took a bow for producing Milton.

He married two women three times: Joyce Matthews, twice; Ruth Cosgrove, once. The one to Ruth, he is certain, will last forever. There are two adopted children—Vickie, 21, who teaches French at Le Lyce School in Los Angeles, and Billy Berle, 5. Milton gets $50,000 a week when he plays Las Vegas, and much, much less in the current play but he took it "because I need the discipline. The last time I was in a play was the Ziegfeld Follies in 1944."

When Berle was tops in television, another network starred Bishop Fulton J. Sheen. They were known as Uncle Milton and Uncle Fulton. In time, the merciless ratings beat both of them. Last season, Berle tried another variety show, but it too died. At his big home in Beverly Hills, Berle has 4,500,000 jokes on microfilm. Sheen has that many prayers in his heart.

Milton has a second home at Malibu and a third at Palm Springs. His company, called Sagebrush Inc., does song records, makes real estate investments, produces TV shows, and will make movies. It is worth $5,000,000 and owns part of the Quibb Building in New York.

making people laugh is a grim art.

Berle said that the two most valuable lessons he learned were (1) a comic is a person who says funny things, a comedian is a person who says things funny; (2) never make the band laugh. He is a millionaire, but will never retire. "What would I retire to?"

He said he took the little bowling alley show because the sponsor offered him anything he wanted. "I asked $20,000 a show for 30 shows," Berle says. "Then I asked him to give it to me at $30,000 a year for the next twenty years. The old lifetime contract I have with NBC will bring in $60,000 a year for thirty years."

Today a pilot film for a TV show costs from $100,000 to $300,000 per half hour. When Berle opened the Texaco Star Theatre on June 8th, 1948, he went on with Harry Richman, Bill Robinson, Veloz and Yolanda, Smith and Dale, Senor Wences and Pearl Bailey. The whole thing, including costumes, lights and rehearsals, cost $15,000. I stopped crying for Milton. (Copyright, 1967, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Dr. King Is Trying To Have It Both Ways

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King, the Negro civil rights leader, is trying to have it both ways. He says he doesn't mean one thing. He says he means another. The two wind up meaning the same.

King, a hero of the civil rights movement and in the newspapers continually for years, had been in a bit of eclipse in recent months as the crusade for civil rights slowed down.

Even Liberals Opposed

It not only slowed down but been to fly apart last year after Stokely Carmichael, leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, began preaching "black power."

Even ardent civil rights liberals didn't like the connotations of that slogan. And the National Urban League and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People denounced the concept. But King wouldn't join the denunciation.

Then with one big speech earlier this month King got himself back into the limelight but in a way that antagonized more people sympathetic to civil rights.

He linked the civil rights protests with the anti-Vietnam war protests. Some Negro leaders publicly disagreed with these latest tactics of King. Since he needs all the white and Negro support he can get to start the civil rights movement rolling again, it's hard to see how he did it anything but to injury.

King had been talking against the war in bits and pieces for a while and then on April 4 made a 40-page speech denouncing the American role in it. He called the United States the "greatest purveyor of violence in the world."

No Mention of VC But he never once in the 40 pages mentioned the violence or viciousness of the Viet Cong against their own people in South Vietnam.

In a later speech — one newspaper said it was a clear effort to counter criticism for his omission in the April 4 talk — he did mention the other side but very guardedly.

He said "I am not absolving Hanoi or the Viet Cong of their responsibilities." This whole performance by King was one-sided.

King, assuring his listeners he was speaking as a matter of conscience, claimed U.S. bombs may have killed one million Vietnamese, "mostly children." Although he never said where he got his figures.

After this speech the Jewish War Veterans of America used King of "condemning" to Ho Chi Minh. Whitney Young Jr., head of the National Urban League, took issue with King, saying he thought the civil rights and the antiwar movements should be kept separate; and Ralph Bunche, a Negro and undersecretary of the United Nations for political affairs, said the same thing.

The criticism was climaxed when the 80-member board of the NAACP unanimously declared "the civil rights battles will have to be fought and won on their own merits, irrespective of the state of war or peace in the world."

Coalition No Merger King said he was saddened that the NAACP would join in the perpetuation of a "myth." The myth, he said, is that he advocates the fusion of the civil rights and peace drives. "I hold no such view," he said.

But Sunday on the CBS television show "Face the Nation" he explained what he had in mind: a "coalition" of the civil rights and antiwar movements. He said "a coalition on particular issues does not mean a merger."

But the American College Dictionary says a coalition means a "union" or "fusion." And just in case there might be uncertainty, it says a "fusion" means a "coalition."

Last Saturday in New York — where Carmichael followed him to ridicule President Johnson as a "buffoon" — King addressed a massive antiwar demonstration.

Says Post Office Can Use That Dollar Contribution

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — If the citizen is going to be permitted to indicate on his income-tax return that a dollar may be used for political contributions, maybe the same device or a slight variation could be utilized to help the impoverished post office department to get enough money to modernize its equipment and assure better mail service.

One extra dollar for each thousand dollars of gross income could be added to the tax bill of individuals, and paid to the post office department. For business, the fee could be three dollars per thousand of gross income.

Everybody derives benefit from the postal service — not just the senders of letters, but the recipients, too. Likewise, the postal service distributes publications of educational value and constitutes a daily system of communication for the people. Surely a few dollars a year — far less than highway tolls amount to in twelve months — would be a relatively small sum for the citizen to add to his tax bill in order to modernize the post office department and improve the mail service.

Under such a plan, the contributions of individuals and corporations would provide the federal government with a total of 3.9 billion dollars annually for the postal service. This would be more than enough to take care of the deficit of the post office department and make unnecessary any increase whatsoever in postal rates.

All citizens and all businesses are affected by delays in the mail service. The speedier the delivery and the more efficient the mail service, the more likely is the value to users to be multiplied. For the mail service is an integral part of the whole system of business operations in America. Since airmail was first introduced, the gross national product has been substantially enlarged. As the national and international system of transportation of mail is further developed, business receives advantages which are worth far more than the amount of postage paid.

The Post Office Department has urged that all postal rates be increased somewhat. The average user would have to pay an extra cent of postage on first-class mail, but the rise in cost to businesses would create a severe burden because of the higher rates proposed for other classes of mail. There are some businesses, for instance, which would have an added expense — at least 300 or 400 thousand dollars a year because of the hike in mail rates. This can only mean that the recipients of mail would have to be charged higher prices for the products and services of those companies. Thus the inflationary trend in America would be accelerated.

The assessment, however, of a few dollars for each taxpayer once a year and the payment of a small fee by each corporation could produce enough money to avoid the necessity for rate or price increases, and at the same time would provide a much more efficient postal service through the modernization of equipment.

In the long run this would substantially improve the mail delivery schedules as a whole by land, sea and air.

If a direct fee system were set up, Congress would thereafter have to furnish a much smaller percentage of the money which the post office department now spends annually. The government, of course, has its own huge volume of mail to be delivered, and there are lots of free dollars for the post office. The fee system raised 3.9 billion, the federal government could make a saving of that large sum out of its present expenditures for mail service each year. This would permit the treasury to use the same amount — 3.9 billion dollars — for purposes other than the postal service. (Copyright, 1967, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate)

Do You Remember

By Sophie Miller

The week of April 3, 1967 began the demolition of the famous Cornell Building on Ferry Street facing Broadway. On Friday, April 7, 1967 it was completely destroyed, and the other side of the Rondout Creek could be seen from Broadway. A proud handsome, sturdy structure, which might have outlived its destroyers if left alone. Another landmark is Gen. Sharpe's residence on Albany Avenue standing in back of the Governor Clinton Hotel, but can be seen from the two streets. That too, with its historic background is in the process of coming down. Those Kingstonians who have been away for the winter, will no doubt be surprised when they come back, to find so many buildings and residences gone from Broadway, from Broadway East and other locations. I wonder what historian, Judge Alphonso T. Clearwater would have said about all this destruction. The Sixth Ward downtown especially is going through urban renewal this year of 1967, as one building after another falls to the destroyer's machines, and streets are being closed.

I mention the fall of these important landmarks for in years to come the dates of the destruction may be of interest, as historians find their pictures in books. The Delaware and Hudson Canal opened for navigation October 1828, with terminal docks at the Strand made the place hum, but of course, the building business was there before that. May, 1849, the collection of buildings designated as the Strand was incorporated under the name of Rondout, according to Clearwater. One of the stores, still standing at this writing, had slanting counters for lady customers with hoop-skirts, so I was told by the proprietor some years ago. The store is on East Strand.

The Ulster County Historical Society will again sponsor the Ulster County Community College local history workshop with six sessions. April 12, 1967, Kenneth Hasbrouck will speak at the Dutch Reformed Church in New Paltz on postwar industrialization of the exploitation of natural resources. April 15, Dr. Salvatore Mondello, will speak at the Ulster County Court House, in Kingston on John Vanderlyn and Kingston. April 26, 1967, George W. D. Hutton, will give his talk at the Dutch Reformed Church in Hurley on Hudson Valley Architecture in the Nineteenth Century. On May 3, at the Kingston High School Auditorium in Kingston there will be a panel discussion on Kingston in the 1970's. The moderator will be Harry Matzen. Those participating will be the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, W. Dale Swartzmiller, Dr. Richard J. Messina, Mrs. Vincent G. Connell, Dr. W. Wendell Hoover and Harry Rigby Jr. On May 10, at the Bevier House, Marlinton, the Society's Museum, all those attending these lectures will be invited to an afternoon tea sponsored by the ladies of the Ulster County Historical Society and given certificates. John Paul Remensnyder president of the society, will conduct a tour of the significant headquarters of the Historical Society.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, April 18, the 108th day of 1967. There are 257 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1775, Paul Revere made his famous ride to warn the American colonists of the approach of British troops from Boston.

On this date: In 1847, Gen. Winfield Scott captured Cerro Gordo Hill, the first point of resistance in his march on Mexico City.

In 1906, the great San Francisco earthquake and fire occurred. In 1942, 16 overloaded B25s took off from the deck of the carrier Hornet. Led by Lt. Gen. James Doolittle, they attacked Tokyo and other Japanese cities in the first effort to bring the war to the Japanese homeland.

In 1944, Russian troops recaptured the Crimean town of Balaklava. In 1946, the League of Nations came to an official end. Ten years ago — President Dwight Eisenhower reduced his budget appropriations request to Congress by $1.342 billion.

Five years ago — The American delegation at the 17-nation disarmament conference in Geneva submitted for consideration a three-stage program to achieve general disarmament over a period of several years. One year ago — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., suggested that Japan or Burma take the lead in bringing about Vietnam peace negotiations which would include the United States, Red China, North Vietnam and South Vietnam.

I understand some 200 attended the lectures in 1966, and a large group came to the first lecture by Harry Rigby at the Old Dutch Church, in Kingston when he spoke of the impact of the Civil War on Ulster County. Thus while Kingston's historic landmarks are hitting the dust of precious brick and mortar, interest in local history can bring out some 200 to five lectures.

Quick Quiz

Q—What birds eat feathers?
A—The grebes, aquatic birds notable for their agility in water. As a general rule, more than 50 per cent of the contents of a grebe's stomach consists of masses of feathers.

Q—What is considered the oldest active treaty the United States has?
A—The treaty of 1794 with the Seneca Indians, signed by George Washington.

Q—What does Palm Sunday commemorate?
A—The services honor Jesus' triumphant entry into Jerusalem. It was first celebrated in the 300s by the Christian church in Jerusalem.

Q—Why are greyhounds so called?
A—Although many are gray, the name does not refer to this color but comes from the Icelandic word meaning "dog."

Q—Who painted grapes that birds pecked at?
A—Zeuxis, a famous Greek painter who lived in the latter part of the fifth century B.C., is said to have painted a bunch of grapes that looked so natural that birds pecked at them.

Q—Is salt necessary for life?
A—It is a natural constituent of all animal fluids and is, therefore, necessary for life.

Lilienthal Switches

Starts New Job in Vietnam; Was TVA, AEC Head

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Having headed the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Atomic Energy Commission, David Lilienthal at 67 is now tackling the on-range development of South Vietnam — a job he regards as his biggest yet.

Lilienthal's chairmanships of TVA and AEC were public jobs. The South Vietnam job is as a private citizen, for Lilienthal now is head of a development company he founded in 1955 with Gordon Clapp, also a former TVA chairman.

This company, Development and Resources Corp., accepted the job early this year at the invitation of President Johnson and will work on a cost-plus contract with the U.S. Agency for International Development.

Work With Vets
D&R will have its counterpart in Vietnam, a group headed by economists and planners. "Since they are Vietnamese they understand the culture," said Lilienthal in an interview. "This is very important. In some things they'll train us. In others, perhaps we'll train them."

Already a survey is being made to see what can be done to make the social, commercial and physical resources of the country serve the people better, in an integrated rather than piecemeal pattern.

Priorities will be selected after the survey, with the emphasis on positive, practical action. D&R is reluctant to accept jobs that lead only to reports.

Although at this early stage Lilienthal is unwilling to forecast just what the Vietnam job may involve, immediate and special problems could include salt water contamination, rice culture, schools, a network of highways to improve farmer access to markets.

Consideration might also be given to the conversion of military facilities to civilian use. Power plants, sewage treatment plants, docks and roads are in this category.

Try to Be Helpful

"But the Vietnamese people are capable of doing this," said Lilienthal. "We will help and their government will help. The same is true of problems in the private sector. So our job is to try to be helpful."

In other words, grand schemes such as at Khuzestan, Iran, are unlikely.

In that project, where D&R has been at work for 10 years, a tremendous dam was built.

From it, water and electric power flowed to the barren desert, which now has schools, industry, agriculture and proud residents.

Such jobs, big as they are, are even more difficult to accomplish than it would seem. The technology is obvious and impressive. But technology, in D&R's opinion, is only part of the picture. People also must be developed — taught and inspired — or the technology never becomes their own. Instead, it will belong to someone else and they will be its servants.

"You must have the conviction that people desire to help themselves," says Lilienthal. "As a manager you must believe this and organize and move things along with this conviction." The Vietnamese, he believes, have shown this desire.

Lilienthal says "I have never been disappointed" in finding creative energies and hope in people. "I have always had this conviction and I have had the good luck to see it confirmed on jobs."

Unique Concert
Nevertheless, he notes, there is an entire school of thought — "it cannot be dismissed" — that says machinery itself will answer problems and, in fact, resolve them faster than the slow process of reeducation and convincing.

Instead of arguing for a road, this theory states in its simplest form, build the road. People then will see its benefits. It will gradually change their lives, their habits. They no longer will have to be convinced.

To illustrate, Lilienthal commented that increased mobility and communication through electronics and airplanes has already brought about what persuasion could not — that is, closer international contacts.

Lilienthal feels any solution limited to technology doesn't reach the heart of the problem. In fact, he feels, it creates more problems. As he spoke he looked down from his New York office upon a river of automobiles stranded in traffic.

"Again, the basic, the fundamental problem in Vietnam and anywhere else is in finding the incentives for people to help themselves."

Syracuse Man Killed

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — George Mika, 38, of Syracuse, was killed Monday when the automobile he was driving went out of control on wet pavement and struck a guardrail along the Northeast Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Woes for Ho

Says U.S. Will Be Forced Out Of Vietnam

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The United States will be forced out of Vietnam, a former U.S. ambassador to Japan believes, but also the Vietnamese people "will take measures to eliminate Ho Chi Minh."

Robert D. Murphy gave that double-barreled assessment Monday as he asserted that President Ho of North Vietnam is "clearly frozen in a position of non-compromise" and that it would be a "waste of time" to offer to negotiate.

Murphy told the World Affairs Council of Albany that he believed the United States, like France in the 1950s, will be forced to leave the Southeast Asian nation.

"Sooner or later," he added, "the truth . . . will dawn upon the Vietnamese people and they will take measures to eliminate Ho Chi Minh and his associates."

Murphy also said some leaders of anti-war demonstrations in this country divide America on opinion by "employing minority groups, many of whom are unconscious of what it is all about."

He said he had concluded that The Rev. Martin Luther King, a civil-rights leader and a critic of U.S. action in Vietnam, doesn't have "the vaguest peripheral knowledge of what the war is about."

Pregnancy No Sanctuary

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) — "Pregnancy cannot be allowed to become a sanctuary for illegal activities," a judge has ruled in turning down a request by a woman prisoner for a writ of habeas corpus to win freedom for her unborn child.

Mrs. Richard Schnor, 26, Cedar Rapids, jailed here since March 15 for parole violation and passing a false check, contended she was pregnant and that authorities were holding her unborn child illegally.

The prosecution retorted it was Mrs. Schnor, not the sheriff — who was holding the child and they would gladly release the infant if Mrs. Schnor would produce it.

District Judge William R. Eads said Monday if he granted the writ, it would set a precedent that could result in freedom for major female criminals if they were pregnant.

Mrs. Schnor, mother of three children, was ordered by the judge to finish her term for forgery in the Iowa Women's Reformatory.

Eavesdropping Is Always Rude

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am employed by a professional man who speaks a foreign language that I neither speak nor understand. Altho he and his wife both speak English very well, when she calls him at his office and I am sitting there working he will very often switch to that other language. This is most irritating to me.

I told him once that I would be glad to step out of his office when he is conversing with his wife, but he said it wasn't necessary. I am not interested in what they have to say to each other, but I think this is very rude, don't you? What should I do?

IRRITATED

DEAR IRRITATED: Unless you are deliberately trying to tune in on his conversations with his wife (which you obviously are), what he says (and in whatever language) is none of your business. Eavesdropping is also "rude,"—not

DEAR ABBY: I have a son, my only child who is the proud owner of a very beautiful home.

When my son lived alone he gave me the key to this home and I often entertained my friends there. Since he has married, I have continued to do so when my son and his wife were out of town.

His wife has now told me that she would "rather" that I did not use her home in this way. I feel that she has no right to forbid me, as it is my son's home, and as his mother I am entitled to be there whenever I please.

Shouldn't my son insist that his wife say no more about it?

INDIGNANT

DEAR INDIGNANT: No. Now that he is married, it is his wife's home as well as his. If you wish to remain on friendly terms with your son and his wife, don't ask your son to "insist" on anything. Entertain your friends in your own home, Mother, and say no more about it.

DEAR ABBY: I am 45 and unmarried and just started to work in a factory. All the employees eat their lunches together. They don't have a lunchroom where we can buy anything; we all bring our own lunches and they give us a lunchroom to eat in.

I noticed a very nice looking man about my age looking at me. (I'll call him "Romeo.") I asked about him and was told he was a "great guy" and not married. I would like to know Romeo better, but I don't want to ask anybody to introduce us because they might start teasing me — or him. How can I get acquainted?

JULIET

DEAR JULIET: Next time you pack your lunch, give the thermos an extra hard twist. The come lunchtime, be sure Romeo sees you struggling to open it. And if he doesn't offer to open it for you (while opening a conversation at the same time) my name isn't Abby.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WONDERING" IN BEVERLY HILLS: Yes, some doctors prescribe birth control pills to young girls (with their parents' consent only) for reasons which have nothing whatsoever to do with birth control.

Lindsay Pushes Sweet City Idea; Promote Courtesy

By JEAN HELLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Over the years New York City has been declared, officially, to be everything from "A Summer Festival" to "Fun City."

Unofficially, it has been called other things to, most of them unprintable.

Now comes Mayor John V. Lindsay, determined to dispel the unprintables with a campaign to promote "Sweet City."

He means sweet as in nice. Lindsay wants everybody to be nice to everybody, at all times and in all circumstances.

Starts at Home

"Courtesy begins in the home," declared Lindsay, and that's where he started. The first target of his courtesy campaign was his official family, the employees of the city.

Mind your telephone manners, Lindsay urged those on the city payroll, speaking especially to employees who deal directly with the public.

Don't let yourself be goaded into anger, he advised. Be as helpful as possible.

An Associated Press survey reveals that the idea, if not exactly soaring, is at least off the ground.

Informed of the survey's results, Lindsay replied: "You're kidding!"

It's true though. For example, there was a telephone call to the Transit Authority that in bygone days, might have set off a less than gentle exchange.

"I'd like to buy a subway train," the caller said.

"I think that could be arranged," the TA official replied.

BERRY'S WORLD

© 1967 by NEA, Inc.

"'ow 'bout it, Alf—do you think we could get a refund from the travel bureau?"

bolitely. "But you'll have to lay your own tracks."

Helpful Officials

And a Health Department official kept his composure when a man insisted upon permission to keep a goat in his Manhattan apartment because he preferred goat's milk to cow's milk.

"The health code only permits dogs and cats," the department employee told him. "However, there are a number of stores that sell goat's milk and, if you'll give me your name and address, I'll be glad to send you a list of the stores in your neighborhood."

Lindsay's surprise at his campaign's successes might be due to the fact that, in the early days of his administration, he was apt to call a city department and say: "This is the mayor. How are things going?"

Dubious city employees were reported to have answered: "Sure you're the mayor. I'm George Washington. It's nice talking to you."

Or "get lost you nut."

"They've learned not to do that any more," Lindsay said.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Folks:

You've written so many sweet letters to me, so many down-to-earth letters; letters all filled with compassion and heartfelt sympathies and knowledge. But there is one particular subject that parents write to me about frequently. So today I have taken excerpts from their letters and compiled them into what I consider precious advice on a delicate subject.

Namely, what parents can do when their children fight over everything in the house... especially when one parent dies.

Many mothers and fathers have written that as they grow older they find there is no longer any need for such things as "the beautiful silver tray, the tea service, that handsome linen dinner cloth we've been proud of for so many years, or the lovely old porcelain bowl that was grandmother's..."

They suggest (and I believe in this) that instead of waiting until one dies, these things should be divided perhaps on (birthdays or Christmas) among the children, a favorite cousin or dear neighbor.

As one mother wrote: "... at least I had the pleasure of seeing their eyes when I gave it to them. My daughter - in - law grabbed me and gave me a great big hug and said, 'Oh, I'll cherish it always. How did you know that this was the one thing in your house I wanted? I feel so flattered that you gave it to me and everytime I clean it I'll remember you.'"

Folks, I really do believe these wonderful parents have found the answer. After all, as we get older we don't need all this silver and hard-to-iron linen. But our children do. They not only have the strength to care for it, but they are proud to show it to their friends. Besides they can brag (and don't think they don't) that "this was given to me by my mother (or mother-in-law) ... it's been handed down in the family."

I have also had many widowers write to me saying that "... when I opened my wife's private bank box I found two diamond rings she had not worn for years. Why didn't she wear these rings and enjoy them—or give them to a loved one who would?"

My only answer, dear friend, is do consider giving some of these things to your children while you are still able to see the joy in their eyes.

Even ministers write that joy cannot be joy unless it is shared. To share is beautiful. When we share anything—even if it's only a cup of coffee—the joys are multiplied. If you doubt this, try drinking a cup of coffee alone, then with a dear friend. The coffee even tastes better!

So as a serious thought for today, may I say that I do not believe in waiting until Christmas or birthdays to give presents. I believe when you love someone and if you have something they want, give it to them no matter if it's the "eighth Tuesday of the second month of the wrong year."

Today is here and we must live it. Yesterday is gone. Who knows if you or I or the ones we love will be here for the days yet to come.

I love each and every one of you who have taken the time to write. Every letter you send to me is read. Lots of them are re-read and all ARE loved.

Bless you, Heloise

Dear Heloise:

To save time when doing my hair, I mix my creme conditioning rinse and the powdered color rinse together in one cup of hot water.

I do the two steps in one. It's easier and faster.

This also seems to make my color rinse cover better and does a perfect job for me.

Mrs. A. Schneider

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

My husband and I selected two days a week in which he did odd jobs around the house.

My part of the bargain was to quit nagging about what had to be done.

This worked so well that it wasn't long before he had everything caught up.

Mrs. Jan G.

You are a clever one, Jan. Keep up the good work!

Heloise

Fair-weather friend? Not our book!

Fair weather and foul—good times and bad—your Savings Bank bankbook pays consistently higher interest-dividends than other bankbooks.

When you put your money in a Savings Bank, you know it's growing, whatever the economic weather.

And that's only one side of the coin.

Last year, the financial pages were filled with stories about "tight money." Business loans were hard to get—no doubt about it.

But last year the Savings Banks of New York State increased their mortgage lending—mostly home mortgages—by one billion, six hundred and forty-nine million dollars. $1,649,841,000—to be exact.

That was a gain of 6%—despite "tight money." And this year more Savings Bank mortgage money is being loaned to home buyers and builders.

Fair-weather friend? Not your Savings Bank! Savings Banks are different...and the difference is all in your favor.

Rhythms, Sounds Demonstrated at Local Schools

Student audiences at the J. Watson Bailey, No. 7, George Washington and Chambers Schools have had the delightful experience of hearing and viewing an ensemble which represents a program of rhythms and sounds. It is the Empire State Percussion Ensemble which makes in-school concert appearances through the efforts of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society, New York State Council on the Arts, and local P-TA groups.

"Bamboula," an African dance rhythm is a favorite number, followed by an introduction to Latin American Instruments — their sounds and rhythms, as well as Chinese instruments including the gong, wood block and temple blocks. An original arrangement of "Sabre Dance" by Katchaturian, highlighting the xylophone and glockenspiel, always delights the students.

Members of the in-school concert committee are Mrs. Charles Ronder, chairman; Mrs. Richard Barnett, Mrs. David Bright, Mrs. Martin Kantor, Mrs. Allan Segal, Mrs. Fred Brummer, and Leonard Stine.

A concert was given Monday, April 17 at the John F. Kennedy School and Sargent's Junior High School.

On Thursday, the group will appear at the Lake Katrine School at 9:30 a. m., and at the Brigham School, 1:30 p. m. Other concerts are scheduled for: April 28, Red Hook Central School, two morning concerts; St. Mary's, Kingston at 1:30 p. m.; May 12, St. Joseph's at 10 a. m.; Port Ewen School at 1:45 p. m.; and May 15, Hurley School at 1:30 p. m.

Rafalowsky-Maged Wedding Announced

Miss Mollie Maged of Brooklyn and Norman Rafalowsky were married Sunday, April 2, at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman G. Rafalowsky, 68 Clinton Avenue, this city.

Rabbi Harry Z. Schechtman of Congregation Ahavath Israel officiated at the ceremony.

Attendants were Sidney Rafalowsky, brother of the bridegroom as best man and Mrs. Philip Benjamin sister-in-law of the bridegroom as matron of honor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Benjamin of Brooklyn.

Tongore Garden Club

The Tongore Garden Club held its initial meeting of the year Thursday, April 13, Mrs. Jo Friedberg, president, presiding. Mrs. Ray Cruthers was hostess at her home and she was assisted by Mrs. M. T. Kwik. Mr. Morris T. Kwik, secretary, read the minutes and a letter from Mrs. William Golden requesting that the club write its delegates to the Constitutional Convention "to keep the forest preserves forever wild." It was voted that the club, officially, and members, individually, do so.

Mrs. Grace Wolff, chairman of the program committee, introduced Mrs. Robert Larsen, as speaker of the day, her subject, "The Making and Care of a Terrarium." Mrs. Larsen exhibited three flourishing examples made by members, demonstrated how to go about making a terrarium, what plants to use, and how to care for it.

Mrs. Victor Bitterman and Mrs. Margaret Lester discussed growing plants from seeds indoors; Mrs. Selma Reitmeyer volunteered to order pest moss for interested members; and Mrs. Cruthers announced spring rubbish clean up.

Orange Flower Show

MARION MANTON

English Miss Comes To Hudson Valley as Permanent Resident

A World War II friendship started in southern England is flowering anew in the Mid-Hudson Valley.

Miss Marion Manton, 23, arrived recently to make her home with Mr. and Mrs. Zale Liese of Port Ewen. The English miss, daughter of Mrs. Rolland Manton of Wallisdown, decided after much reflection she wanted to become a United States citizen. The Mantons and the Lieses began their friendship some 25 years ago when Mr. Liese was associated with the Royal Air Force. At that time, Marion's Uncle Robert and Aunt Vera Manton opened their home in the seaside resort of Bournemouth to him. Throughout the years they have kept up their close association through correspondence.

Miss Manton is a graduate of East Howe Secondary School, comparable to our high school, and Bournemouth Municipal College, equivalent to our community colleges. She majored in business administration, specializing in secretarial work, stenotyping and receptionist duties.

Prior to coming to the states she was secretary to the director of Western Walling Ltd., Bournemouth, construction and building supplies firm.

She previously had been teleprinter operator for Henly's Ltd., one of England's largest automobile distributors.

Coming to the mountainous Mid-Hudson Valley directly from her Channel-side home in England, Miss Manton is overwhelmed by surrounding countryside. Happy she decided to come here, she thinks it is the "greatest place in the world."

The Lieses expressed their elation at the addition to their family which is made up of four boys. Mr. Liese said he is delighted at the opportunity to return the many kindnesses of the Manton family.

In College Concert

William H. Oakav, Port Ewen, student at Ball State University, Muncie, Ind., will perform in the newly formed Ballet Company which will present a concert April 24 in Emens Auditorium.

The 19-member junior company and a senior company of 16 dancers will be accompanied by the Ball State Orchestra, a clarinet quartette, the Ball State Band and a percussion ensemble.

Oskav, violinist, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Oakav, 168 Doris Street, Port Ewen.

Governor Names Leader for Women Volunteers in State

ALBANY—Mrs. Eunice Baird Whittlesey of Schenectady has accepted a request by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller to head a state-wide group of volunteer women who want to make a personal commitment of time and effort to state government, it was announced today by Kitty Carlisle Hart, special consultant to the Governor for the Women's Unit. Mrs. Whittlesey will serve without compensation.

"Through Mrs. Whittlesey's group, these volunteer women will be given an opportunity to commit their energies and ideas to state programs in much the same ways they have been volunteering their help to their communities," Mrs. Hart said today.

The Governor said his request to Mrs. Whittlesey to organize the new group, to be called Volunteers' Tipline was made as the result of response to the creation recently of Women's Unit in the Executive Chamber. A number of women have asked for a program geared specifically to the volunteer worker.

Mrs. Hart has herself been a volunteer in state government since last spring when she acted as chairman of the Governor's Conference on Women. Following the Conference, she was the author of a post-conference report which recommended, among other things, the creation of the new Women's Unit.

Mrs. Whittlesey, a prominent worker in many volunteer organizations in the Schenectady area, said today she was gratified by the recognition the Governor has given to the role played in their communities.

Paris' famous Eiffel Tower was built to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the French Revolution of 1789.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES CRAIG SR., of Binnewater were guests of honor at a party given on April 15 in the Ulster Hose No. 5 fire hall. The occasion marked their 25th anniversary. They were married on April 19, 1942 in Tilton and attendants were Raymond Jackson and Betty Clippel. More than 50 friends and relatives attended the gala party. The Craigs have five sons: James Jr., Binnewater; Laurence, who was recently discharged from service; Wayne, now in the service of the U. S. Navy; David and Steven who reside at home. They have three grandchildren also. (H. Pete Powell)

Y-Wives Discuss Spring Activities; Dinner-Dance Slated

The Y Wives of the YWCA met on Thursday, April 6 at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue, this city, to plan a spring dinner-dance. It will be held at Oehler's on April 29 and Mrs. Fred Schoonmaker has announced that reservations must be made and paid for at the April 20 meeting.

Members who are interested in participating in the club's annual TV talent nite were invited to attend a meeting at the home of Mrs. Frederick Burnett, entertainment chairman.

It was decided to hold a bake sale in the near future. Mrs. William Barnes, chairman, will announce date and place at the next meeting.

Hostesses for the evening were the Mes. Herbert Reuner, William Schreiber and Warren Van-Kleeck.

Mrs. Francis Gardner provided a program for the children's story hour at the Kingston library on April 7.

The next regular meeting will be held on Thursday, April 20 at 8 p. m. in the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue. Mrs. Gerry Yawman, district manager of the Dorothy Carnegie program, will present a program on effective communication and memory improvement.

The YWCA is a member of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Rummage Sale Holy Cross Church

A rummage sale will be held April 27 and 28 from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. at the parish hall of Holy Cross Episcopal Church, 30 Pine Grove Avenue. Anyone having articles for the sale will have them at the parish hall by April 26.

Estimates are that an acre of sugar cane or beet produces enough calories to supply 2,500 persons with their full quota for a day.

Seventh Graders Complete YWCA Child Care Class

The YWCA has recently completed a four session course in baby sitting and child care under the instruction of Mrs. James Childs RN.

The course included topics as bathing the baby, games for children, responsibilities of the baby sitter and a talk on safety presented by Deputy Fire Chief Glyndon M. Southard of the Kingston Fire Department.

The girls completing the course and awarded certificates are Diane Gardner, Diane McCallum, Marjorie McFarland, Jo Ann Potter, Mary Pat Reis, Debbie Shlightner, and Gail Tremper, all girls are in the seventh grade.

The YWCA is one of the 13 agencies included in the Ulster County Community Chest.

Gets Scholarship For Advanced Study

MISS DOROTHY BIRMINGHAM, fifth grade teacher at the West Hurley School has received a scholarship to attend the NDEA Institute for advanced study in English given at Teachers College, Columbia University, N. Y. The eight week summer program begins on July 3.

This institute is being offered for 40 elementary school teachers and supervisors in the belief that they will be able to carry out their responsibilities more effectively if they are informed about the recent findings in such disciplines as linguistics, psychology, and speech.

Nine semester hours of graduate credit will be awarded to all participants who successfully complete the Institute program. Miss Birmingham will reside in International House overlooking the Hudson River, three blocks from the college.

Ellenville Hospital Auxiliary Schedules Fashion Show; Luncheon Committee Named

Mrs. Theodore Welenken of Wurtsboro has been appointed chairman of the second annual fashion show and luncheon sponsored by the Ellenville Community Hospital Auxiliary, it was announced by Mrs. Alfred Feldshuh, president of the organization, and Mrs. Everett Coty was elected to the office of second vice president at the group's April 10 meeting.

These are two of the latest developments announced by the recently organized hospital group. The fashion show and luncheon will be held on Monday, May 8 at the Fallsview Hotel at 12 o'clock.

Assisting Mrs. Welenken on the luncheon committee will be: Mrs. Louis Resnick; Mrs. Jeffrey Rakosi; Mrs. Joseph Levine; Mrs. Aaron Feldherr; Mrs. Arthur Tasman; Mrs. Lila Hirsch; Mrs. William Badner; and Mrs. Stan Rubin.

Tickets to the gala event are now available from members of the committee and proceeds will be used to further the auxiliary program of help to the hospital. Committee members will accept reservations for full tables if these reservations are made early. In the election of Mrs. Coty to a second vice presidency, the Auxiliary president announced the office was created by a change in the organization's by-laws which had originally called for only one vice president.

Mrs. Vincent Gillen, coordinator of volunteers, advised the membership that those who serve on weekends and specified holidays will be credited with time and one half on their records.

On Monday, May 22, a benefit party is planned featuring household items. The party will benefit the Auxiliary Coffee Shop.

Other Auxiliary news: The Gift Card Committee is seeking more volunteers and Mrs. Irving Feinberg, membership chairman, is now collecting membership dues.

The Right Thing To Do

By Elizabeth L. Post

WIFE WOUNDED BY MOTHER-IN-LAW'S SECRET

Dear Mrs. Post: Ever since I married and came to this country, 17 years ago, my mother-in-law writes to my husband's office, ending her letters with "Don't let Mary read this." There should be a special something between mother and son, but I resent all these years of hurt over my mother-in-law's meddling and lack of consideration for me. Never could I understand why someone, who wants to be so good, goes on hurting other people. Life is so short.—Mrs. M.G.

Dear Mrs. M.G.: Life is short, and to spend any part of it deliberately hurting someone is a crime and a waste. I wonder if your mother-in-law knows how much she has hurt you. Did your husband ever tell her how you felt? If not, I feel that a large part of the blame lies with him. Show him this column and discuss it with him. Other than that there is little you can do to change your mother-in-law after 17 years. One of the saddest and loneliest people in the world is the parent who refuses to accept her child's wife. You have my sympathy, and so does she.

paper. I read of the death of a local boy in Vietnam. I want to send a note of sympathy but the question is when? If his mother were a close friend, I would contact her immediately, but she is not. Should I wait until the return of the body for burial? I'm sure with the Vietnam situation, this has happened to others and that it will happen again.—Mrs. H.

Dear Mrs. H.: One of the few rules about letters of condolence is that they be written promptly. It is the fact of the death, not the occasion of the funeral, which is cause for your sympathy, so you should write as soon as the news is made known.

The Ring-Bearer's Cushion

Dear Mrs. Post: Could you tell me if there is a rule concerning the color of the cushion carried by the ring bearer? Must this be the conventional white, or is it possible to have a different color?—Myrna.

Dear Myrna: Yes, there is a rule—the cushion is always white and it is generally made of satin. The ring is affixed to it by sewing with a single, very light thread, or by thrusting a needle-headed pin into the circle of the ring.

Share of Tax Load Heaviest on Women Without Husbands

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — This year a girl doesn't have to pay federal income tax on the damages she wins from a fellow's breach of promise to marry her. But that bit of gallant largesse from Uncle Sam isn't going to do much to reconcile a spinster, divorcee or widow to paying hundreds of dollars more in taxes than a married couple with the same taxable income.

To many of the 13 million single women in the United States, it looks as if they're being penalized for not marrying.

"You'd think," one woman commented as she rushed to meet the filing deadline today, "the government would pay us to compensate for not having a man around the house."

Another, in a high bracket, said her accountant told her the other day: "Honey, if you'd just get a husband I could save you 20 per cent!"

In spite of efforts by a few legislators, especially Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., to remedy the situation, nothing happens. Actually it's getting worse, because more women are reaching the higher income brackets where the disparity is wider.

For example, a single woman with a taxable income of $6,000 pays $130 more in federal income tax than a married couple pays on the same amount. With an $8,000 taxable income, the difference is $250, and on up the tax rate schedule.

Then, too, the married couple gets an automatic deduction of $1,200 or $600 more than the single person.

Unmarried people have always paid a higher percentage of tax, but things got rough when income splitting for married couples was first provided in 1948. Then in 1951 special tax rates were set forth for those who qualified as head of household.

"The trouble is," McCarthy points out, "that these qualifications are so demanding that they exclude many more women than they include."

What he wants to do is extend the head of household category to widows and widowers and to single persons over 35 who have never been married or who have been separated or divorced for three years or more, who maintain their own households.

Practically any unmarried woman over 35 has actually founded a household, he maintains. Hundreds of thousands are supporting minor children; millions are contributing to the support of aged parents.

The Doctor Says

SHAVING IS BEST METHOD OF REMOVING FACIAL HAIRS

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have stiff, ugly hairs growing on my chin. What causes them and what can be done to get rid of them?

A—This is a common problem. If the color of the unwanted hairs nearly matches that of your skin they would not be conspicuous, and hence not too bothersome. If the hairs are darker than your skin they can be bleached with hydrogen peroxide. Short-wave diathermy has been used to remove these hairs but the results are usually disappointing. The simplest treatment is to shave them off. This will not, as one believed, cause the hairs to become coarser.

Chemical depilatories irritate the skin and, if left on for more than a few minutes, may cause a dermatitis. For this reason, it is better not to use them on your face. The only way to get rid of these hairs permanently is with an electric needle. Battery-operated needles for home use are not recommended because it takes an experienced operator to gauge how deep to insert the needle, how strong a current to use and how long to use it.

Q—Are hair dyes harmful if used for a period of years? Can they cause brain tumors?

A—The hair dyes and bleaches now sold or used in beauty parlors have been approved by the Food and Drug Administration. They will not cause brain tumors but will irritate the skin of some persons who are allergic to them. For this reason, a patch test should always be performed before the dye is applied for the first time.

Q—I lose a lot of hair every time I comb it. Vitamin E hasn't helped any. Is there anything I can do for it?

A—Often women who worry about their hair falling out are guilty of overindulgence in rinses, wave sets and hair sprays. Any rollers or curlers that make even a slight, steady pull on the hair can loosen it. Brisk brushing will stimulate the scalp and this is good but it is sometimes difficult to say when headful brushing ends and excessive tug-of-war with your hair begins. It is, therefore, wise to avoid vigorous combing or brushing or the use of a brush with sharp synthetic bristles.

It is doubtful that vitamin E would benefit your condition. Avoidance of the aforementioned factors is important. Female hormones may help to stimulate hair growth but the dosage must be carefully controlled. Creams for external application that contain these hormones have been disappointing.

Q—My hair is thinning out. Can I do anything to stop it?

Lays Down Rules To Cover Society Of Girl Watchers

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — It's molting season for both birds and girls and so the American Society of Girl Watchers issued guidelines today for its 5,000 members.

They are:
Don't oggle.
When passing a girl going the same direction, don't turn the head around and stare.

Binoculars Out
Don't use binoculars — except at a distance.
Don't whistle, pinch, whisper or commit any other overt act.
Maintain eye-ball control at all times.

"We don't have any particular season," said Don Sauers of Eastchester, N.Y., founder of the society. "In fact, some of our best card-carrying members think ski pants in Vermont are sexier than bikinis in Miami or miniskirts in Los Angeles."

"But this is the molting season when the girls all take off their heavy over clothing and get closer to nature. Our spring season starts the middle of April. At this time Fifth Avenue — between 42nd Street and Central Park — becomes the girl watchers' paradise of the world."

The society started as a gag out of the head of Sauers and grew into an institution. Sauers, 44, father of five, was sitting around at lunch with some Madison Avenue pals about 10 years ago and a hindspring mind swung by the window. Sauers was suddenly struck with an idea.

More Fun to Watch
"Bird-watchers have their own organization — the Audubon Society. I suggested there are more girl watchers than bird watchers. Girls are more fun to watch. They all agreed."

The society now occupies the lush, four-story headquarters on 38th Street just off Park Avenue. It has members in 45 states and several foreign countries. It has its own guide book, authored by Sauers; its own theme song, "Music to Watch Girls By," a popular ditty used by a soft drink firm; a label pin, just like the Elks, and a nine-article constitution.

The society is an affiliate of the Professional Sports Management Corp. "After all, there is no greater sport than girl watching," says the current president, Rav Baur, 40, of Westport, Conn., father of six.

Sauers says the purpose of the organization is to improve the climate of girl watching.

"A survey shows that the girls, 100 per cent of them, like to be watched," the founder added.

Sauers said one of the rules is not to watch girls in restaurants. "That's like watching birds in a zoo," he said. "They should be watched in their natural habitat — walking on the streets."

Senate Votes To Lower SS Retirement Age

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to lower the Social Security retirement age to 60 for eligible workers willing to swap full-scale benefits for five years of leisure. But some senators view the measure as a tactical move in a separate battle.

Passed 55 to 28 Monday was an amendment by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., that would give those who retire at 60 about 70 per cent of the benefits they would get if they kept working until age 65.

The Byrd amendment was tacked onto the administration's bill to restore major business tax incentives.

Pending as the debate on the tax bill resumes today is action on a proposed amendment to boost Social Security benefits $4 billion a year, raising the minimum monthly payment from $44 to $70.

Some senators saw in the continuing flood of amendments to the tax bill echoes of last week's bitter battle over the presidential election campaign financing law.

Opponents of the campaign law pushed through an amendment to the tax bill repealing the financing plan. But Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., author of the election financing measure and floor manager for the tax bill, pledged a fight to overcome the repealer.

Foes of the finance law believe its backers are trying to load the tax bill down with riders in hopes it might be easier to kill all the amendments when the bill goes to a Senate-House conference committee. The House passed the tax bill with little debate but this is the third week of Senate consideration of the measure.

House Against It
Byrd's amendment to lower the Social Security retirement age has cleared the Senate twice before. The House always has rejected it in conference.

Widows are the only category now eligible for age 60 retirement. Other women and men may retire at 62 with reduced payments.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., a co-author of the election financing repealer, urged rejection of Byrd's amendment. But Long supported Byrd.

The $4-billion Social Security increase amendment is sponsored by Sen. Winston L. Pror, R-Vt.

TV News Joey Gets Off To Shaky Start In ABC Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Joey Bishop Show" presided over by a very nervous host, took off in a shaky, thoroughly disorganized style on ABC Monday night.

It probably will settle down ultimately and assume some of the smooth operation of its prototype, "The Tonight Show," that is, if Joey ever stops thinking people for coming to see him.

Frank Copy of NBC

The 90-minute late evening show is a frank copy of the NBC competition in everything, including its faults.

Bishop is installed behind the traditional desk with the guest accommodations on his right. Like his East Coast rival, he keeps fishing behind his chair to produce an endless assortment of products. The commercials continually interrupted the show, I counted 10 during the first 30 minutes.

The first program should have provided considerably more entertainment than it did. Gov. Ronald Reagan was the first celebrity guest. Since neither he nor Bishop seemed prepared, it was a long confrontation broken by awkward pauses.

Bishop moved into the audience and introduced a few celebrities and his wife, Debbie Reynolds turned up and described her work as a Girl Scout leader but was snapped off short when she started to do some amusing impressions of stars. Danny Thomas was in his usual reverent, patriotic and humble form.

Bishop's "side kick" is a Dennis Day-ish sort of fellow named Regis Philbin. "That's Greek for Hugh Downs," said Bishop. He seemed to have little to do except take abuse from the comedian.

Pretty Awful Start

It was a pretty awful beginning. "Saga of Western Man" is an over-all title for a series of ABC specials which seem to cover almost any subject that interests its producer, John Secondari. His attention has been fixed on such diverse subjects as Michelangelo, the voyages of Columbus, Custer's defeat and Monday night — the ill-fated expedition led by British navy Captain Robert Scott to the South Pole in 1912.

The program showed some old motion picture film and photographs of members of the expedition. Douglas Fairbanks read from Scott's journal, kept up to the time the men perished from exposure, cold and lack of food on the long trip back from the pole.

Most effective was color film made to illustrate the icy beauty of that white lonesome place, and the terrible rigors undergone by men and animals.

'Robe' Scores

ABC's Easter Day rerun of the motion picture "The Robe," was the single most popular program in the two weeks ending April 2, according to a national Nielsen report released Monday. It pushed its competition, NBC's "Bonanza," into ninth place in the list of top 10 shows, and knocked CBS's "Smothers Brothers comedy hour" down to 56th in the list of 100 programs.

Other programs in the Nielsen top 10 were CBS's "Red Skelton Show," "Andy Griffith Show," "Lucy Show," and "Gomer Pyle." NBC's "Dean Martin Show," CBS's "Green Acres" and "Daktari" and Friday night movies.

CBS led the average ratings with 19.1, followed by NBC with 17.8 and ABC 17.5.

Soviet Plane Makes 1st Hop Across Siberia

TOKYO (AP) — Carrying 106 passengers and a crew of 13, a Soviet TU114 turboprop aircraft made the first commercial flight across Siberia from Moscow to Tokyo today.

The plane made the 4,960-mile flight in 10 hours, 14 minutes, about one-fourth the flying time from Europe to the Far East on old routes.

Japan Air Lines and the Soviet airline Aeroflot operated the plane jointly under a recent air agreement and the names of both airlines were inscribed on the fuselage.

Adenauer Unchanged

BONN, Germany (AP) — Former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer passed a quiet night in his home in the village of Rhendorf and there was no change in his condition, doctors reported today.

Adenauer, 91, became seriously ill six days ago with influenza and bronchitis.

A medical team that examined Adenauer Monday afternoon said his condition remained serious, "though not weakened general condition and the state of his lungs."

Orange GI Killed in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Pfc. Paul J. Liffieri of the Orange County community of Highland Mills has been killed in combat in Vietnam.

The Defense Department reported Liffieri's death Monday. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick C. Liffieri.

The Liffieri address is Ridge Road.

Only 55 cities in the world had populations exceeding one million two decades ago. Today there are 120.

Delegates to Get Extra $3,500 Fund

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Delegates to the Constitutional Convention will receive an additional $3,500 for secretarial expenses, in addition to their travel expenses and $15,000 annual salary.

Convention President Anthony J. Travia announced the secretarial allotment Monday but added:

"There will be no lulu from the president on down."

"Lulu" is the term coined by the late Gov. Alfred E. Smith to designate lump-sum allotments granted to legislators "in lieu of" detailed expenses."

Phoenicia News

The Tiskilwa Lodge of Rebekah's held a card party at the Lodge Hall, Mrs. Olive Shultis, District Deputy, Ida Mae Ostrander and Ethel Hogan, all of Bearsville, were special guests. The card party was well attended and refreshments were served. A regular meeting of the Rebekah's a covered dish supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. James Platt recently visited their daughter, Mrs. Donald Ballard of Grand Gorge, who is a patient at the Stamford Hospital.

First Aid Course

Plans are being formulated by the local Fire District to conduct Red Cross First Aid Courses to members of the fire companies under the direction of Charles Smith, First Aid Instructor, Pine Hill. This will include members from the fire companies of Big Indian-Olive, Mt. Tremper, Phoenicia and Shandaken, all companies comprising the Phoenicia Fire District.

Martin Gahan who is currently employed at the Williams Lake Hotel, Rosendale, spent the weekend with his family at his home on Chichester Road.

The Rotary Club of Phoenicia held its regular weekly meeting Thursday evening, April 6 at Ricciardella's Hotel and Restaurant, Main Street, Phoenicia. The Rev. Russel Roe of the Shandaken Methodist Church, who is a member of the Pine Hill Rotary Club, introduced Stanley Ladin, executive director of Community Action for Ulster County, who spoke on the program and activities of the Job Training Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pettinato are vacationing in Florida.

Old Home Search

The search for old buildings in the Town of Shandaken, constructed in or prior to the year of 1950, is still going on in the town and from adjoining towns of Hardenburgh, Middletown and Lexington. Both Miss Evelyn Craig and Mrs. William H. McGrath who are in charge of this search which is sponsored by the New York State Planning Board, are heartened by the cooperation of persons writing and calling to advise of site of old buildings. The age of the buildings must be documented in some way to show the record of the actual age. However, if there is any doubt, Miss Craig and Mrs. McGrath will gladly accept any information and will check out all leads and possibilities. Interested parties may contact Miss Evelyn Craig or Mrs. William J. McGrath at Phoenicia or write a letter or postcard with all pertinent information.

Sees Dow Jones Nearing 1,000 By Mid-1968

BABSON PARK, MASS. — A primary bull market cycle which began last October will see the Dow Jones Industrial Average close to the 1,000 level by mid-1968, predicts Roger E. Spear, president of Spear & Staff, investment advisers.

"It is too late to be long-term bearish," Spear said. "While we are undoubtedly going to see further intermediate reactions, because of the unsettled condition of the economy, the long-term outlook is excellent, especially for those companies, large and small, that are in a fast-growth phase."

Spear noted that the stock market historically discounts business slowdowns in advance, so that by the time these bottom out the market is already on a bullish course, giving a favorable market climate for the purchase of selected issues.

"Investors should give particular attention to some of the smaller companies in on the ground floor of the new industries of the future — lasers, anti-pollution, and so forth," Spear said.

Current indicators of better things to come, Spear said, include continued easing of credit, probable restoration of the tax credit for capital outlays, and studies showing that consumer sentiment has finally turned up after declining for the past 12 months. The approaching recovery in the construction and automobile industries is a very important factor, Spear added.

For the intermediate term, Spear warned, there are pitfalls. "Some of these far-sighted people who purchased stock around the market's low last October are now railing down long-term gains, and poor first-quarter earnings reports for some companies could cause setbacks in these issues. All in all, however, the outlook is favorable for a portfolio of well chosen stocks," Spear concluded.

Evans Retiring From Thruway

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Holden A. Evans Jr., executive director of the State Thruway Authority, will retire April 26. Authority chairman R. Burdell Bixby announced today.

John A. Tiesler, chief engineer of the Division of Budget, will succeed Evans in the $30,000-a-year post.

Evans, in state service since 1936, has been with the Thruway since its creation in 1950. He lives in Old Chatham.

Tiesler, a 1927 graduate of Cornell, has been employed by the state since 1945. All of his service has been with the Budget Division. He lives in suburban Loudonville.

the possibility of conducting a religious census in the area. He will meet with area church representatives April 25 if sufficient interest in the project is indicated. While in the area he was a guest of the Rev. and Mrs. George B. Moody of the Phoenicia Methodist Church.

The Adult Study Group in the Phoenicia Methodist Church met for the first time recently with 12 persons present. The study will continue each Wednesday at 8 p. m. during the month of April. A textbook will report of The Consultation on Church Union involving six of major church denominations.

P-TA to Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Phoenicia P-TA will be held on Thursday, at the Phoenicia Elementary School. Mrs. Jane Rossitz, president, said that election of officers for the coming year will be held at this meeting and also the Jenkins Award will be presented. The committee on the Jenkins award include Mrs. Robert Maroney, Mrs. William Sheehan and Mrs. Harvey Herron. Also in conjunction with the P-TA meeting there will be a physical education program, put on by students of the fifth and sixth grade, directed by Larry Karas, physical education teacher of the Phoenicia School.

Seek Dentists Aid In Cancer Battle

Oral cancer — cancer of the mouth and associated areas — took the lives of almost 7,000 men and women in the U. S. in 1966, and although this figure does not seem to be a large one, when considering the nation's entire population, it is believed that a great many of those deaths could have been avoided in that such cases can be easily detected in the early stages.

According to Dr. Harri Janssen, professional chairman of the Education Committee of the Ulster County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, oral control has been made a significant part of the Society's five-year minimum achievement program to save more lives from cancer now.

Seeking to educate the public in exercising greater personal vigilance, Janssen said, "This action program, now in its second year, seeks to involve at least 50 per cent of all dentists and physicians in a program to make cancer detection a part of every checkup examination."

"Instances of unusual sensation, pain, swelling or other abnormalities such as bleeding, sores and white spots should be acted upon without delay," said Dr. Janssen.

The Chairman stated that the ACS "puts great emphasis on the significant role of the dentist in the detection" of the disease, and that, "this is one instance in which the dental and the medical professions can combine the weaponry of modern cancer detection in the fight against cancer."

Laud Apples as Happy Threat to Medical Group

CLINTON, N.Y. (AP) — Remember the adage, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away?" Now, a Hamilton College professor studying microbiology and biochemistry says the apple also may be a good way to lose weight, cut down deposits of cholesterol and reduce the threat of heart attacks.

Dr. Benjamin Becker, an associate professor of biology, theorizes that malic acid—found in all apples—serves as a booster for chemical reactions involved in digestion so that more food is converted to energy, and less to fat and cholesterol.

He has launched an experiment—"Operation Apple"—in the Clinton-Utica area to test his theory. The experiment will utilize volunteers who, over a six-month period, are scheduled to eat at least one apple daily, weigh themselves each month and provide a running record of any weight changes to Dr. Becker.

Dr. Becker said that, when food is digested, it can be broken down into any of a number of substances needed for proper functioning of the body.

These substances include fat and cholesterol, which the body needs in proper amounts, but too much of them can produce obesity, possible hardening of the arteries and—some researchers believe—heart failure.

Dr. Becker believes that, by providing the malic acid from apples as a supplement to the

Orange Man Faces May Sentencing

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal Judge Edmund L. Palmieri on Monday set May 19 for sentencing of a Newburgh man on his plea of guilty to a charge of offering $607 to an Air Force enlisted man in an attempt to influence the award of a government contract at Stewart Air Force Base.

Milton Ushman, 51, pleaded guilty last Friday to one count of a four-count indictment. He has a hardware and lumber business at Cornwall. Ushman's address was listed as 20 Memorial Drive, Newburgh.

At Marine Camp

Marine Private James E. Jansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jansen of 105 Hone Street, and Marine Private Robert J. Sickler Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Sickler Sr. of 16 Hunter Street are going through recruit training at Parris Island.

Given 2 to 4 In Slaying of Mother of Three

WAMPVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — William F. Cheeseman, 29, of Oneida has been sentenced to 2 to 4 years in the slaying of a mother of three during a spree of target-shooting at beer bottles in a kitchen.

Judge Ross Patane of Madison County sentenced Cheeseman Monday to Attica State Prison on the charge of second-degree manslaughter. Cheeseman had pleaded guilty March 16.

A co-defendant, Richard B. Becker, 31, also of Oneida, was given a one-year suspended sentence on a charge of discharging a firearm at a human being.

Police found the body of Mrs. Shirley Contreras Jan. 8 in the kitchen of her Oneida home. The Madison County district attorney's office said Cheeseman and Becker were firing at beer bottles with a .22-caliber rifle when the 30-year-old woman was shot.

Jail Patient Kidnapper

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A youth who, police say, took his girlfriend from a hospital in a stolen automobile after threatening a nurse, has been ordered sent to the reception center of Elmira Reformatory.

James C. Graunke, 18, of nearby Kenmore drew an indeterminate sentence Monday when he appeared before Judge Frederick M. Marshall in Erie County Court.

He had pleaded guilty to petty larceny and third-degree assault.

Police said Graunke pointed a revolver at a Mever Memorial Hospital nurse last Jan. 4 as she tried to prevent him from taking the girl, a 16-year-old mental patient, from the hospital grounds here.

The two were picked up by police in Franklin, La., four days later.

Several bullet holes were counted in the walls. Mrs. Contreras' 11-year-old daughter and two sons, aged 8 and 5, were at home when the shooting occurred. She and her husband, Thomas, were seated.

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP)—The Kentucky-Tennessee regional meeting of the American Assembly adopted a statement at its recent conference that more state legislative hearings should be held "to encourage participation of interested citizens."

post vacated by the death of Joseph Mafera. Whelan, a Queens Democrat who served in the Legislature from 1963 through 1965, was elected Monday with the support of Assembly Speaker and Convention President Anthony J. Travia and Mrs. Rosemary Gunning, Republican and Conservative party delegate. The other delegate from the Queens district, Charles Brennan, a Democrat, had nominated former New York City Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy. Whelan's election left the convention's political make-up unchanged at 99 Democrats, 84 Republicans and 3 Liberals.

Under convention rules, the vacancy was filled by a vote among the district's delegates, with Travia holding the deciding ballot in the event of a deadlock.

Senate Gets Nomination of Glenford PM

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson submitted the following postmaster nominations to the Senate Monday:

New York—Charles M. Baez, Castle Point; Rubv I. Breakey, Copenhagen; Henry Betke, Cossack; Helen H. Braun, Glenford; Carl W. Lewis, Gouverneur; John P. Country, Malone; Francis J. Wilson, Portville; Warren P. Schofield, Waddington; Robert H. Ward, Weedsport.

Students Picket College

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—About 18 students picketed Niagara County Community College Monday because, they said, the school refused to renew a teacher's contract after he took part in a Vietnam peace demonstration. Fred Munson of Niagara Falls, a leader of the protest, said the instructor, William Sander, had told his sociology class the two events were connected.

The peace rally was held in Buffalo last month. Sander's one-year contract expires June 30. Dr. Ernest Notar, college president, said it was the "administration's prerogative" to refuse to renew a contract. He would make no other comment. Sander, who previously was at the State University College at Buffalo, was not available for comment.

Phone Directory Going to Users Starting 20th

The new edition of the Kingston telephone directory has been published and 33,550 copies will be distributed to New York Telephone customers starting Thursday.

William J. Pearson, company manager, said the new directory contains about 38,000 listings on 223 pages in the white and Yellow Page sections. These figures represent a slight increase over last year's 36,900 listings on 220 pages.

The cover this year is a colorful illustration of three vital members of the telephone industry—the installer, the business office representative and the operator.

The introductory pages of the directory are a storehouse of information, Pearson pointed out. Included are dialing details, typical charges for calls, information about placing emergency calls and an explanation of how the telephone company can help in the case of annoyance calls.

In the Yellow Pages, the company has added 136 new headings to help customers find new products and services. Among them are: Curtain Walls, Picture Frame-Dirs., Sales Promotion Service and Trademark Agents & Counselors.

Pearson noted that many listings in the new phone book are all-numerical and some still appear in the older, letter-numeral style. All listings in the 1968 edition, to be published about a year from now, will be all-numerical, he said.

"This will complete the gradual introduction of this style of phone number in this area. All-numerical phone numbers eliminate possible confusion between such letters as T, P, D and B and between the letter O and numeral zero and the letter I and numeral one," Pearson explained.

"Replacing letters with the corresponding numerals on the dial greatly increases the supply of available phone numbers. It provides half again as many central office codes (the first three digits of a phone number) as the old letter-numeral arrangement."

"Thus, it helps provide for the orderly, continuing growth of the nation's telephone system."

About nine out of 10 of the world's telephones have all-numerical listings, Pearson said. Delivery of the new directories will take about two weeks.

Attempt New Meet

BOSTON (AP)—A new try for an annual meeting was made today by the Boston & Maine Corp., after a Federal court denied a request Monday for an injunction to prevent the meeting.

The injunction request, made by Jordan Eskin, a New York attorney and the leader of a group of dissident stockholders, was denied by U.S. District Court Judge Francis J. W. Ford.

Eskin had urged stockholders to withhold or cancel their proxies until an alternate slate of officers could be proposed. He has said the present management is responsible for continuing operational losses by the railroad, nonpayment of dividends and a lack of progress toward merging with other railroads.

The railroad's management recessed the annual meeting last Wednesday and Thursday when it could not get sufficient stockholder support for a quorum, representatives of 460,361 shares.

The B&M has had two proxy

Find Body Of Missing Area Banker

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Free on bond, a 59-year-old former bank trust officer charged by the FBI last week with embezzling $7,000 was found dead Monday night in Lake Guymard near here.

State police said there was no evidence of foul play.

The dead man, Harry Cudney of Middletown, had been released in $1,000 bail pending a hearing April 26. The FBI accused Cudney of taking the money from the County National Bank here. Cudney had been an employee there for 30 years. He lived at 30 Bedford Ave.

Fights in the last two years. Eskin's group, Stockholders Committee For Better Management, lost last year by about 61,000 votes out of 746,539.

ONLY 3 YEARS AGO?

Hardly seems as though the Kingston Shopping Plaza could have become so popular in three short years!

The State of New York National Bank has pioneered in the concept of 'one stop' banking, a single stop to cash your paycheck, deposit to your savings account, pay on your home improvement loan and do all the rest of your banking under one roof.

Seems so many folks like to carry the principle one step further and combine their banking with grocery and department store shopping, a haircut, doing the family wash and supplying every other need on a one-stop basis!

Maybe that's why the Plaza Branch of The State of New York National Bank is the fastest growing banking office in the area!

Surveyor Back On Track for Date With Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)

Surveyor 3, fired back on the track in a crucial space maneuver, zeroed in on the sun and stars today in America's first try at digging the moon.

The spacecraft, equipped with spindly, arm-like shovels, is aimed at the moon's Sea of Storms, the probable lunar landing site for future U.S. astronauts.

Most Complicated Yet

Touchdown for the 2,283-pound moon device, the most complicated yet developed by the United States, is about 7 p.m. EST Wednesday.

No problems developed during the first half of the 237,000-mile journey, said scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at California Institute of Technology.

A midcourse trajectory correction was completed at midnight Monday by a series of rocket bursts and the spacecraft locked back onto the sun and star Canopus for guidance moments later.

"The vehicle quickly regained the sun," a spokesman for the control agency said, "and this was very crucial."

He said 12 more hours of tracking were needed before the maneuver could be termed a complete success "but all indications are it was."

The trajectory correction was performed by the Goldstone Tracking Station on California's Mojave Desert.

After the spacecraft plunks down on the moon Wednesday evening, a signal from earth will activate Surveyor 3's spidery diggers and send them clawing at the moon's surface.

The hand-sized scoops, able to bite as well as dig, should show scientists whether the surface could support a manned spacecraft. Its mechanical jaws are strong enough to crack concrete.

Must Be Slowed

Before it can land to explore the nature of the moon's surface, however, the spacecraft must be slowed from 6,000 miles per hour, turn around and lower on a cushion of fiery rockets at a scant 3 m.p.h.

"Once the ship is turned around and begins the landing maneuver," a spokesman said, "no one on earth will be able to help. The maneuver is completely automatic."

Standing on tripod legs, Surveyor 3 hopefully will die and take pictures for two weeks.

Speck Is Returned To Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard Speck, convicted Saturday of murdering eight nurses, was confined today in the Cook County jail 22 feet from the electric chair from which his attorney hopes to save him.

Speck was returned to a maximum security cell after a 160-mile ride to Chicago from Peoria, Ill. Monday. His trial was heard in Peoria on a defense plea that jurors from Chicago, where the eight young women were knifed and strangled July 14, would be prejudiced against Speck.

Asked Execution

A jury of seven men and five women convicted him Saturday in Peoria and recommended execution.

Gerald W. Getty, public defender of Cook County who represents Speck, is preparing written arguments for a new trial to be presented to Judge Herbert C. Posen May 15.

If a new trial is not granted, Getty plans to ask that the court hear from six psychiatrists, before sentencing Speck. One of the psychiatrists, Dr. Marvin Zaporin, assigned to the county jail, has already said he believes Speck was temporarily insane from the effects of drugs and alcohol at the time of the killings.

Getty hopes mitigating testimony may lead to a reduction in the sentence. Illinois law allows the jury's recommendation to set aside a jury's recommendation of death and impose a prison sentence.

To File Appeal

The public defender also is expected to appeal on grounds that photographs of the murdered girls shown to the jury by the prosecutors served only to prejudice and inflame the jurors against Speck.

Since his imprisonment on the mass murder charges, Speck has amused himself by sketching in his cell. Before he left Chicago for the trial in Peoria which started Feb. 20, he lettered a cryptic message in paint in a cell at the Cook County jail. It reads: "Richard Speck. Born 12-6-41. Died—?"

The U. S. patent system was established in 1790.

Society Visited Dale's Patients

Patients at Dale's Sanitarium were visited during the month by a group from the Rosary Society of St. Mary's Church. Entertainment was by Robert Schnell, playing guitar and Arthur DeCelle, singing. Refreshments were served to all patients.

Communion Breakfast will be held May 7 in the school cafeteria. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Robert Schnell, or Mrs. Floyd Turek.

On May 11 the Living Rosary will be held. At this time, all new members will be invested. Those interested should call Mrs. Harry Buback or Mrs. John Ruckard. Refreshments will be served later in the cafeteria.

Rosary Society will have babysitting available for Confirmation on April 27.

To help understand the Mass and be able to participate better, a new class is being started for children, 4-6 years old. This will be held during 10 o'clock Mass each Sunday in the school, starting immediately. For further information details call Mrs. John Fitzpatrick.

After art museum slides and the school dedication, refreshments were served by: Mrs. Robert Bannen, Mary Cook, Mrs. Alfred Hopf, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Joseph Trotter, and Mrs. Kathy Glenister, chairman, following a recent meeting of the Society.

To Hear Judge Cobb

Lutheran Church Women of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp, will hold their regular supper meeting Wednesday at 6 p. m. in the parish hall.

Guest speaker for the business meeting will be Greene County Judge George L. Cobb, who will speak on Family and Juvenile Relations.

Members and friends of the congregation are invited. Those attending may bring a covered dish to pass.

Name Officer Of State Group

FRANK ANTALAK

Saugerties Jaycee Frank Antalek has been elected to the office of National Director of New York State Jaycees. In the capacity of National Director he will represent New York State Jaycees as a member of the Executive Board of both New York State Jaycees and the United States Jaycees.

Antalek, his wife Diana, and their three children reside in Saugerties which has been home to them for the past eight years. He and his wife are both originally from Schenectady.

In his seven years in the Jaycees he has held virtually every office in the Saugerties local including president. This past year he has been district president of Coxsackie, Hudson, Kingston, New Paltz, Saugerties, and Woodstock. He had been employed by International Business Machines for the past 11 years and is currently a programmer in the Information System Development Division. Antalek will be officially installed at the Jaycee Convention in Rochester on May 20.

Woman's Club Ringing Down Curtain Soon

The Woman's Club of Saugerties will hold its last meeting of the year April 27 at 8:15 p. m. at Dutch Arms Chapel of Reformed Church of Saugerties.

Yearly reports will be heard, officers will be nominated for the new year, and a dramatic skit will be presented.

The club has sponsored many excellent speakers during the past year and plans are being formulated to present other outstanding lecturers for the new season which will commence next September.

Mrs. David Groff, president, feels this has been an outstanding year. She says that even though the club was just organized last summer, it has grown to a membership of over 150 and has sponsored many outstanding programs and projects for the community.

Mrs. Groff expressed gratitude for the fine efforts put forth by many of the members, including Mrs. Dexter Otis Arnold, Mrs. Arnold, past president of The American Federation of Women's Clubs, devoted much time and knowledge while acting as advisor throughout the year.

According to Mrs. Joseph Kramer, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, the club's annual fund-raising event this year will be a fashion show and luncheon. This show which is appropriately called, Roebuck & Company and will be held at Oehler's Mountain Lodge April 27 at 12 noon. Awards will include two tickets to Expo '67, covering entrance, to all pavilions at the fair, dinner for (2) and partial transportation from Kingston. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Woman's Club or at Sears, Kingston Plaza.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Independent Group Fielding Slate of 3 for School Board

The Independent Taxpayers Committee's chairman, Sy Kruszansky, has announced that three concerned Saugerties citizens will run as a slate, for the three local School Board vacancies. George W. (Bill) Poythress, Harry Anders, and Mrs. Robert Wright, are the three candidates.

Bill Poythress has lived in Saugerties for 12 years. He has two children; one a graduate of Saugerties High School, the other in elementary school. He is a Technical Associate Machine Designer with IBM.

Poythress is Neighborhood Commissioner and Assistant District Commissioner of the Boy Scouts and Cubmaster of Pack 39. He is a member of the Order of the Arrow, an honorary camping fraternity, an Elder of Flatbush Reformed Church and an Executive Board member of the Tri-Parish Retreat Inc.

Harry Anders has been a resident of the Village of Saugerties for 10 years. He ran for the School Board last year and lost by only nine votes. He was born in New York City and holds bachelor and masters degrees from NYU, in addition to a Certificate of Advanced Study from SUNY—Graduate School of Public Affairs at Albany.

He is a speech therapist in addition to being involved in programs such as Special Education for the Retarded and Headstart. He is a member of Atonement Lutheran Church in Saugerties and has served on the council; being currently vice-president. Anders is active with Troop 32 of the Boy Scouts, and the Ulster County Chapter of ARC. He has two teen-aged children.

Velma Wright is a native of Philadelphia, Pa. and has lived in this area since 1963. Her husband Robert is a Technical Writer at IBM.

She has been very active in area affairs. At the present time she is chairman of office volunteers with the Poverty Program in Saugerties.

Though she has five children in elementary school, she is also leader of Girl Scout Troop 186. The purpose of the Independent Taxpayers Committee is to improve the school system, by uniting area taxpayers who feel they are not getting their money's worth as far as their children's education is concerned. They invite similar minded people to work with them for the betterment of the entire area.

Morse Students Hear All About Textiles

Mrs. McLean Reynolds, Ulster County Associate 4-H Club Agent, was guest speaker in the third grade class of Mrs. Natalie Straub, Grant D. Morse School, recently. She talked to the class about natural fibers and man made textiles as the conclusion of a science unit which the class has been studying.

Among articles shown the class by Mrs. Reynolds were fiberglass drapery fabrics, asbestos, material used to line space suits, a silkworm cocoon, and the glass marbles from which fiberglass is made. Mrs. Reynolds pointed out that the four natural fibers are wool, silk, linen, and cotton and allowed children to see and feel samples of each of these fabrics. According to her, the most important thing for youngsters to remember about man made fabrics is that they are manufactured in the laboratory, are easy to care for, and are limited only by the imagination of man.

Materials shown to the class came from the Ulster County Clothing Kit made up for the "Textiles for Teens" 4-H Club project by clothing specialists at Cornell University.

Set Cancer Goal Here at $3,000

Key personnel in the Town of Saugerties Cancer Crusade to meet the local goal of $3,000, headed this year by Terrence F. Martin of Prospect Street, were announced today by Albert J. Cawein, publicity chairman.

Township residential chairmen are Mrs. Gerald Stulphen of Simmons Park, and Mrs. Richard Reinhardt of Blue Mountain Park. Village residential captains include Mrs. Ralph Childers, Mrs. Charles Seala, Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. Les Short, and Mrs. Carroll Neiffer.

Industry and special gifts chairman is Paul Pavlovich of Finger Street Extension, and merchants chairman is George Thornton.

The Saugerties door-to-door campaign will get underway this week, Martin announced today. Cawein, who has served as publicity chairman for Saugerties several years is also serving in an advisory capacity on the county publicity committee.

DARTBALL CHAMPIONS—Trinity continued its string of victories in Saugerties Dartball League by defeating Cementon Sportsmens Club, the playoff champs 26-20 and 17-15. The league championship series was held Monday night at High Woods Sportsmens Club following the annual dinner served the sportsmen's auxiliary. The champs are (l-r) front, Joe Riccio, Jim Myers, (outstanding series player) Earl Minkler, Ken Dixon; rear, Ike Perle, Dick Kimble, Ken Mower, Wally Peters, Bill Wolven, Lupe Mickle, and Ed Green. ## Jamestown Gets Flood Rains

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—Flooded roads, basements and fields were left today in the wake of brief but violent storms that dumped up to four inches of rain in the Jamestown area.

The rain Monday undermined six streets in this southwestern New York city, causing pavement to crack. Manhole covers were tossed onto streets by a surge of water that overtaxed storm sewers.

Brief, scattered power failures also were reported.

Near Clymer, at least two feet of water covered lawns and cultivated farmland in low-lying areas. Several sections of Route 74 and some secondary roads were washed out.

No injuries were blamed on the storms, however.

The storms were less intense in neighboring counties in New York State, but the nearby Pennsylvania counties of Erie and McKean experienced severe conditions, the Weather Bureau said.

2 More Petition For Convention On Constitution

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some steam appears to be leaking from drives in state legislatures for a constitutional convention on the Supreme Court's one-man-one vote reapportionment decision.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, telling a news conference a month ago that 32 states had petitioned Congress for a convention, predicted there would be petitions soon from two more.

Need Two-Thirds
The Constitution says Congress shall call a convention on application from two-thirds of the states — 34 of the 50.

But since Dirksen's prediction, the only state whose legislature has taken any significant action is Alaska. Its Senate rejected April 8 a petition-resolution that had passed the House.

A resolution which passed the Iowa House earlier in the year remains locked up in a State Senate committee, its chances of getting out regarded as dim. Democrats control the Iowa Senate and Democratic Gov. Harold E. Hughes is opposed to the resolution.

The convention question is not basically a partisan matter. But Dirksen has more influence with his party's members everywhere than he does with Democrats.

Dirksen long has tried to undo the 1964 Supreme Court ruling that both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on the basis of population.

Failed in 1965
He failed in 1965 and again in 1966 to get Senate approval for a proposed constitutional amendment to permit apportionment of one house of a state legislature along lines other than population.

Delaware, where a resolution recently was introduced, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin are the likeliest prospects now in Dirksen's search for two more convention petitions.

There are resolutions in Senate and House committees in Pennsylvania, Republican Gov. Raymond P. Shafer has given nominal support to the resolutions but there are doubts in Harrisburg that he will push hard. Democrats have a strong minority in the legislature and Shafer needs Democratic votes for key legislation in his state program.

In Wisconsin, there have been some committee hearings. Aides to Sen. William Proxmire, Wisconsin Democrat, say the State Senate might pass a resolution but call House approval doubtful.

Ontario Board

increases every year in the future.

The contractors, on their part, feel their bids were reasonable and within state maximums and that they are entitled to some profit after operating expenses have been paid. They also fear unfair competition now that their bids have become a matter of public information, point out that possible competitors will find it easy to underbid them drastically in the new bidding being readied for Thursday.

One contractor, Robert Wilkins, goes so far as to suggest that since today's Board is essentially the same as that which sat last year, it is "no more qualified to judge a fair and reasonable bid than it was then." It is his contention that the proof of this lies in the fact that the company (Lakeview) whose bid was accepted last year went bankrupt because it bid too low. "If the trustees could not recognize a bid as too low then," he asks, "who are they to now say that a bidder is coming in too high?"

The Board, however, remains adamant. Some members point out that the budget figure for contract transportation was indeed raised this year and went up from $200,000 to $250,000. Some increases had been expected and the budget hike was allocated to cover such contingencies and allow some profit to operators. Still, the Board says it could not possibly have envisioned such drastic increases; maintains the other contractors did not collapse or go out of business during the period when Lakeview was in the main driver's seat; and notes that, unless the rebids are much lower, trustees will definitely consider the possibility of district-owned buses, a course of action which would necessitate the approval of a major bond issue to cover purchase, operation and maintenance of such buses by taxpayers and voters of the district.

Cable Stolen

Local police were notified Monday night that some 200 feet of cable valued at $75 had been taken from a welding machine at the Rott Williams gas station, 420 Albany Avenue. It was indicated that proper equipment had been used in cutting the cable.

One Dead In Miami Hotel Fire

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Fire broke out in a downtown Miami hotel this morning, killing one woman and severely burning an elderly man.

Police said the top floor of the three-story Haven Hotel burst into flames about 1:50 a.m., trapping more than a dozen sleeping guests in their rooms.

Officers said when they arrived some were hanging from window sills and others screaming for help. Firemen picked the people off the walls with ladders, said a police sergeant.

"It's unbelievable that there were only two casualties," he said.

Police identified the dead woman as Virginia Hopkins, 39, a resident of the hotel. She was a waitress.

Officials said the section of the building Mrs. Hopkins lived in was destroyed.

Fire Chief C. C. Kenny said the fire would have swept the entire building and perhaps neighboring structures except for a recently constructed vertical separation wall required under a new fire ordinance.

In fair condition at a Miami hospital is Charles Foster, 68, a resident of the hotel. Hospital officials said he suffered burns over 30 per cent of his body, including his face and hands.

Police said the screams of the top floor guests routed about 25 other sleeping people on lower levels.

Residents and guests of an adjoining hotel were also evacuated.

$750 Million Price Put on Five Rail Lines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of Norfolk & Western Railway has put a $750 million price tag on the cost of buying up five smaller railroads for consolidation with a N.W.-Baltimore & Ohio-Chesapeake & Ohio System.

Herman H. Pevler gave that estimate of the cost of acquiring the Erie-Lackawanna, Boston & Maine, Delaware & Hudson, Reading and The Jersey Central. His testimony came at Monday's opening day of Interstate Commerce Commission hearings into the proposed N.W. merger with C&O-B&O.

Covers 26,400 Miles
Approval of the over-all merger would combine what a few years ago were 13 separate railroads. Based on 1964 figures, the merged system would be worth some $5.9 billion, with 26,460 miles of railroad stretching from Maine to Nebraska and Montreal to Winston-Salem, N.C.

Walter J. Myskowski, an attorney for New York State, reportedly believed Pevler considerably overestimated the cost of purchasing the five smaller railroads.

It earlier had been estimated the N.W. system would pay about $172 million for the five — through issuance of N.W. stock to them.

$200 Million Tax Loss
Myskowski quoted from 1965 memo from Pevler indicating if Congress passes certain legislation, the N.W. system could recover $200 million in tax losses from the five railroads. The tax loss was based on the sizable indebtedness of several of the smaller roads.

Pevler said he figured because of those debts, N.W. would be able to reduce its taxable income by $150 million to $200 million over a five-year period if it acquired the five lines.

Myskowski estimated the tax writeoff would amount to more than N.W. paid for the smaller roads.

Gardner, Davis Choices of 11th County District

The Republican committee of the newly formed 11th Legislative District of Ulster County, met Monday night at the town hall in the Town of Olive and pursuant to the new reapportionment plan organized by adopting rules and regulations of governing procedure.

Included in the 11th Legislative District are the five townships of Denning, Hardenbergh, Olive, Rochester and Shandaken. John J. Lynch of Town of Olive was elected permanent chairman and Edmund E. Schoonmaker of Town of Rochester was named permanent secretary.

The meeting then proceeded to unanimously select choices of two legislators to be placed before the Republican Committee convention and subsequently to be placed on the ballot as Republican candidates at the November election from the 11th Legislative District.

On motion of Howard Trowbridge, and seconded by Bradford Kelder, the name of Ernest J. Gardner of the Town of Olive was proposed as one of the two County Legislators from the 11th District. Former Town of Rochester Supervisor A. Richard Terwilliger nominated Philip H. Davis of Town of Rochester, seconded by Peter Gates, and Davis was named as the second candidate for County Legislator.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to rise early Tuesday, pushing its advance into the fourth straight session. Trading was fairly active.

Gainers outnumbered losers by about 2 to 1 but the industrial average showed only a very slight gain because it was braked by profit taking among blue chips.

Chrysler, which rose 2 on Monday as the most active issue, eased although Chairman Lynn Townsend said he looked for improved car sales for the industry in the months ahead. Other auto stocks were narrowly higher.

Slight losses were taken by a number of other blue chips, including Du Pont, Alcoa and Swift.

Xerox and Douglas Aircraft were up about 2 each.

Gains of about a point were made by International Telephone, Polaroid, Pan American World Airways, American Airlines and Standard Oil of Indiana.

Motorola rose about 3 points. Opening blocks included:

United Industrial Corp., preferred, unchanged at 94 on 49-400 shares; Commonwealth Oil, off 1/4 at 26 1/2; General Motors, up 1/4 at 80 on 6,500; Ford, up 1/4 at 52 1/2 on 6,000; and Standard Oil (New Jersey), off 1/4 at 63 1/2.

Quotations by Wood, Walker & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 63 Wall Street, New York City branch office, 52 Main Street, Lowell 5 Brooks, manager.

New Paltz Revival Series To Be Held at Nazarene Church

REV. D. J. BUONGIORNO

Niagara Falls evangelist, the Rev. D. J. Buongiorno, will conduct a revival campaign at the New Paltz Church of the Nazarene on North Chestnut Street in New Paltz, April 19-30. Services each evening will be at 7:30 and Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m.

The Rev. Mr. Buongiorno is a graduate of Bob Jones University and was once a pitcher with the St. Louis Browns. He was being groomed for the major league, but a physical condition eliminated this ambition and during his despondency he was led to Christ.

The Rev. Mr. Buongiorno is a very unique speaker and has an appeal to all ages. It was announced by Rev. C. W. Lindeman, pastor. There will be musical program each service of the revival. The public may attend.

Youth Pleads Guilty To Having Tablets

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—John A. Grieco Jr., 19, of Watertown, has pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of 10,000 phenobarbital tablets, stolen last fall from an uncle who is a physician.

Judge James T. Foley of U. S. District Court deferred sentencing Monday and released the youth in the custody of his lawyer.

3 Are Hurt In City Mishaps

Three persons were injured in two city traffic mishaps Monday night.

Theora Gray, 21, of 596 Broadway, driver of one of two cars in collision at Cornell Street, suffered a face injury and Roderick Gray, 26, of the same address reported head and jaw injuries. They were treated at Benedictine Hospital.

Police said the other car was driven by Loren A. Wangslo, 25, of 115 Home Street. Officers Anthony Turk and Thomas Coffey investigated the mishap reported at 9:42 p. m.

In the other reported at 7:05 p. m., a taxi and another car were in collision at Broadway and Hoffman Street. The taxi, owned by the Kingston Circle Cab Co., 468 Broadway, was driven by Ronald G. Cantwell, 33, of 89 Prince Street, who was treated at Kingston Hospital for a head injury. The other car was driven by Uhlard R. Kaschel, 26, of 286 East Chester Street. Officer William Slover investigated.

Cites High Costs

Sees Absorption Of Parochial in Public System

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt says it's possible that because of rising educational costs, the state's 644,000 parochial and other private school children may have to be absorbed into the public school system.

"Parochial and private schools, with inadequate resources, are becoming less able to provide the best in education," Levitt said Monday. "They may have to go out of business entirely or (as an alternative) be taken over completely by the public."

Levitt said he was not personally recommending such a takeover. But in a speech here and in a news conference afterward he foresaw the day when one or the other alternative might happen.

Because those views are held in some circles, he said, his office had made a study of the cost factor involved in a public takeover of parochial and private school functions. He said it would cost an additional $636 million a year to do this.

The comptroller addressed some 1,800 delegates to a meeting of the State Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development.

Levitt said the potential of taxes on real estate to support the public schools has been virtually exhausted. He urged taxing income and corporation income under new formulas, and imposing other business taxes, to raise funds for education.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING....

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor & Analyst
Return Can Be Assured
For Longer Period

Q: "I have retired early due to a heart ailment. Our income is from Social Security and $35,000 in savings and loan institutions at 5.25 per cent. We live in a retirement community where monthly expenses average $200. We'd like to put some of our money into securities to produce better income. What do you suggest?" D.M.

A: I am sincerely sorry to read of your heart ailment. Under present money conditions there is no safe way to increase significantly the income you're now getting from savings and loan accounts. Interest on such accounts is voted by the directors periodically and there is, of course, no guarantee that the present relatively high rate will continue indefinitely.

You can invest a portion of your funds in bonds with good collateral protection, which will give greater assurance that your rate of return will continue for some years ahead.

Fishes on Her 100th

CORDOVA, Ala. (AP)—Mrs. J.A. Hyche went fishing to celebrate her 100th birthday but caught nothing. "I never had no luck on Monday," she said. "But I'm a great one to catch when they're a-biting."

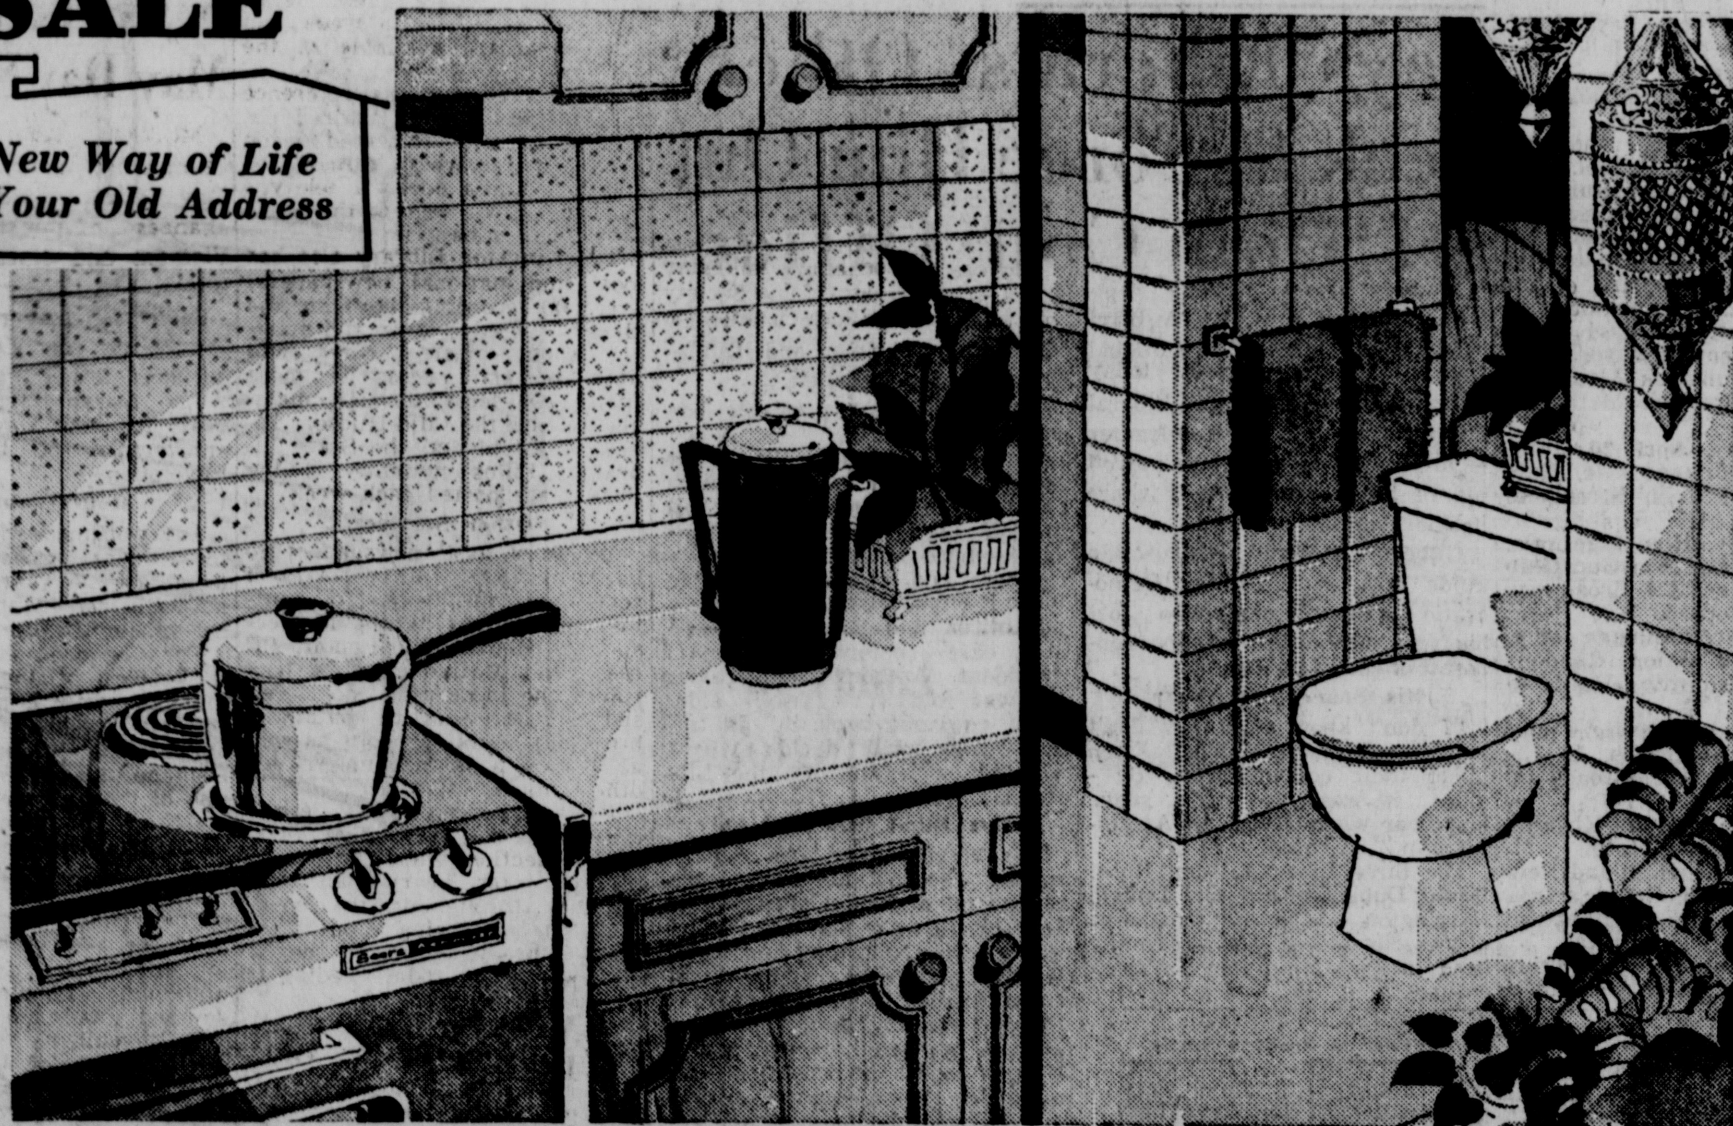

Part can be put into good common stocks where the dividend seems safe. I suggest $5,000 each in American Telephone 5 1/2% of 1997 to yield 5.37 per cent and Bethlehem Steel 5.40% of 1992 on a 5.29 per cent basis. Steel common and Lone Star Gas, each yielding 5.5 per cent. Q: "We have five young grandchildren and would like to start buying stocks for their college education. Sound growth stocks are what we want. We'll start with $5,000 and add some each month. Can you advise us?" J.C.

A: With very great pleasure, for your worthwhile purpose. The stocks you want to sell at relatively high price-earnings ratios. This simply means that they are no longer cheap and are discounting growth a long way ahead. But the best ones have done this for some time past and should continue to do so in the future. Over the next decade, I believe you will considerably enhance your grandchildren's college funds by buying such stocks as American Home Products; Becton, Dickinson; General Telephone; Consolidated Foods; Holiday Inns.

UR Issues 7 Certificates on Property Rehab

Seven more property owners in the Broadway East Rehabilitation area have been issued certificates by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency and the City of Kingston, Eric Hemphill, executive director of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency announced today.

Approximately 100 properties in the Broadway East Rehabilitation area are to be rehabilitated to urban renewal and city code standards. Hemphill said 21 certificates had been issued and rehabilitation work is under way on several other properties and is expected to be completed within the next few weeks.

Owners in the Urban Renewal Rehabilitation area are eligible to borrow money through the Agency directly from the Federal government at a 3 per cent interest rate to be paid back in 20 years.

The Agency has approved seven loans thus far totaling $24,950.

The largest loan the Agency has approved is for rehabilitation work to be done to a property at 32 Stuyvesant Street. Hemphill said Rodney Whittaker, owner of this property, has applied for a loan of $10,300, which would be used to make exterior and interior improvements to the property.

Under the rehabilitation plans for this building, a dilapidated front porch will be removed and a new doorway and entrance, including new front steps and a concrete slab deck, will be installed. The building also will get a face-lifting in the form of sand blasting of the brick. Also, a new roof, new heating system and sprinkler system will be installed. The four apartments in the building will be rejuvenated through a complete interior painting and decorating program.

Hemphill said the Agency is pleased Whittaker has agreed to do a "first rate job of rehabilitation of this property and should be commended for his decision."

There are only five properties on the south side of Stuyvesant Street, he added, and three of the owners have already agreed to do rehabilitation work.

The Agency has also approved eight rehabilitation grants totaling $10,197. Grants of up to $1,500 are made to eligible applicants who use the funds to rehabilitate properties to building requirements. The grants are not repayable. Hemphill said several other property owners had applied for grant funds which are in the process of being approved.

Canal Society Plans May 21st Ski-Minne Fete

The first annual dinner meeting of the D&H Canal Historical Society, Inc. will be held Sunday night, May 21 at Ski-Minne on the Minneiska Trail, a spokesman for the society's board of directors announced this week.

The program will include a review of the year's activities, discussion of plans for the coming year, and election of officers. Arrangements for the main speaker have not been firm. An announcement of the selection will be made later, according to Society President John Novi.

Although the festivities will focus on topics of special interest to members of the society, anyone interested in community or historical activities is welcome to attend and participate. Tickets are available from any officer or board member, or by writing D&H Canal Historical Society, Inc., High Falls. Cocktail hour will be from 6 to 7 p. m. and dinner will be served at 7:30.

Olive Delays Action on New Voting Districts

The Town of Olive Board delayed action on creating two additional voting districts at its April board meeting.

Members felt further study of new personal registration for 1967 was needed. Economy was also a factor. However one additional voting machine will be supplied as budgeted for District 1. The machine will be used in this district or as a substitute in other districts in case of emergency.

Hours at the town dump were set as follows: May 1 to October 1, Sundays 1 to 8 p. m.; Monday, Thursday and Saturday 12 noon to 8 p. m.

The town was denied use of the New York State University, New Paltz, camp facility in the Town of Olive.

Installation of a street light in front of Company 2 Firehouse was brought up for discussion and tabled.

Bills from the highway and general funds in the amounts of $2,299.82 and $7,395.05, respectively were paid by unanimous vote.

The next board meeting will be May 2.

Realtors Meet Thursday Night

The Ulster County Board of Realtors will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday night at Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Committee chairmen who will make reports are Dewey Logan, chairman, Realtor Week; Robert Kershaw, chairman, By-Laws; John Sanglin Jr., chairman, financial structure; and Benson Krom, chairman, Urban Renewal.

President Adele Royael announced the meeting will convene at 7:30 p. m. sharp and she will appreciate it if all members make a special effort to be present. New members will be welcomed at this meeting.

Says Rockefeller Best Opponent For LBJ in 1968

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill D. Moyers, who served President Johnson as White House press secretary, thinks Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York would be the "most difficult" Republican candidate for Johnson to beat in 1968.

Rockefeller would give Johnson "the toughest time," Moyers said, because the governor could take away some of the Negro and moderate votes Johnson won in 1964 when his opponent was Barry Goldwater.

Moyers, speaking Monday night at a meeting of the Society of Siurans, an organization of women newspapermen, predicted that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey would again be Johnson's running-mate. A ticket of Johnson and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., would not be in either's interest, he said.

Moyers left the White House earlier this year to become publisher of Newsday, a Long Island daily newspaper.

Today in Washington

Labor Pain Relief

WASHINGTON (AP) — A team of New Jersey doctors says a new technique for relieving a mother's labor pains has produced very promising results among 100 patients.

Dr. Lewis E. Savel of South Orange said Monday the technique involves a pain-killing anesthetic which a mother administers to herself through a face mask.

The anesthetic, he explained, is methoxyflurane, a liquid that rapidly changes into an inhalable gas which has been used previously to put women asleep during actual childbirth.

Savel, in a report co-authored by three colleagues, told the 15th annual clinical meeting of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists the technique eliminates or markedly reduces the use of opiates or hypnotic drugs ordinarily given to cope with labor pains.

Enshrine JFK Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — Establishment of the John F. Kennedy birthplace in Brookline, Mass., as a national historic site apparently is approaching reality.

The House approved with minor amendments Monday a Senate-passed bill to authorize the secretary of the interior to acquire by donation the property and have it administered by the National Park Service.

The late president's father bought the house in 1914 and sold it in 1920 when his son was about 3½ years old. The home was reacquired by the Kennedy family last year and is being returned to its 1917 style and condition.

Capital Footnotes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Communications Satellite Corp. reports its Early Bird and Late Bird satellites earned $2,372,159 during the first three months of 1967, a substantial increase over any previous quarter.

The Census Bureau says the farm population has declined by four million people, or 5 per cent, since 1960 to a present population of 11.6 million.

Find Ovulating Twice Not Rare In Some Women

AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A Cornell University medical college researcher says 20 per cent of the women he tested for fertility showed evidence of ovulating twice, rather than once, during their regular menstrual cycle.

B. B. Saxena, Ph.D., associate professor of biochemistry, said his findings "raise a good possibility there could be more than one ovulation during a menstrual cycle" in some women.

Revealed in Talk

He said in an interview and speech Monday at the annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology that if the results of his tests are a reflection of the true condition, "it could account for some of the failures in the rhythm method of avoiding pregnancy."

Success of the rhythm method depends on determining the exact moment the female egg is released.

The Federation meeting is one of the world's largest scientific sessions, with more than 20,000 researchers in attendance.

Saxena said his tests at Cornell have been in progress only one year and involve 10 women.

He said new radioactive assay methods were employed for detecting the presence in a woman's blood plasma of follicle stimulating hormone (FSH), which is produced by the pituitary gland and is transmitted to the ovaries to stimulate ovulation.

Took Samples

Using this method, he said, his research group took daily blood plasma samples from normally menstruating females.

He said two of the women, during a normal menstrual cycle, had two dips in basal body temperature, two instances of abdominal pain and two rises in the levels of FSH and Luteinizing Hormone (LH).

All three indications of ovulation occurred simultaneously, he said.

He added that these indications of double ovulation were detected between four and six days apart.

"These studies are still suggestive and whether our evidence actually represents two ovulations during a cycle still remains to be established," he said.

Over 24,000 Books

Over 20,000 adult books, 4,000 juvenile books, and 100 periodicals are available to the public. Eighty-four of the periodicals are indexed in Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature and back issues are kept for 10 years. They are used mainly for research and term papers. Best seller lists are posted each week and the books are available at the library.

There are over 2,300 reference books from which hundreds of questions are answered each year. If answers cannot be found in these books a teletype request can be sent to the State Library at Albany.

The Kingston Library also has local and national newspapers; over 500 recordings covering the classics, popular, jazz and spoken; sheet music, scores and librettos, and access to more than 1200 films through membership in the Mid-Hudson Library System and the State Library.

Films currently in the library are posted each week.

Other Services

Issues of local newspapers go back to 1820. A Dial-A-Book service provides books for shut-ins. Art prints by the Masters such as Rembrandt, Renoir, Picasso and Matisse may be borrowed the same as a book. Assisting the blind in obtaining books and talking books as well as talking book machines is another library service.

Patrons desiring books, periodicals, films and recordings not in the collection can get them through inter-library loan from libraries throughout the country. The nice thing about these public library services—they're all free. No wonder reading is what's happening.

Norstad-De Gaulle Talk

PARIS (AP) — Retired Gen. Louis Norstad discussed the Vietnam war and French-American relations with President Charles de Gaulle today but said he brought "no message nor am I taking back any word."

Norstad, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's former supreme commander in Europe, said he called on De Gaulle to pay his respects as a private citizen.

"I am not an expert on the subject (of Vietnam) but I was pleased to hear his observations," said Norstad. "Gen. De Gaulle re-emphasized the importance of friendship between France and the United States."

Norstad said he had no present contact with President Johnson or his administration but if given the opportunity would relay France's views. He gave no indication, however, that he learned anything Johnson doesn't already know.

Norstad also met with Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, Defense Minister Pierre Messmer and NATO Secretary-General Manlio Brosio.

Killed by Terrorist

ADEN (AP) — Hamed Nabih, personnel manager of the British Petroleum Co.'s oil refinery in Aden, was killed while shopping early today by a gunman who fired six bullets into his head and fled.

The assassin was believed to be a member of the FLOSY nationalist terrorist group. Front for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen, since the Arab employees of the refinery are considered sympathetic to FLOSY's rival, the National Liberation Front.

In two other suburbs of Aden, terrorist gunmen opened fire on British patrols. A British marine was wounded slightly.

He was born in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Paul N. Rice

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (AP) — Paul North Rice, 70, librarian emeritus of Wesleyan University's Olin Library and a former president of the American Library Association, died Sunday after a brief illness. Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband, Frank DeBarberi, who passed away 1 year ago today, April 18, 1966.

God save the road was getting rough, The hills were hard to climb. He gently closed your loving eyes

Whispering "Frank, peace be thine."

Your weary hours, your days of pain, Your weary nights have passed. Your ever patient worn out frame

Has found sweet rest at last. Loving Wife, ERMA

TODAY'S THOUGHT
By JIM GILPATRICK

Everyone knows (or should know) we should not expect to get "something for nothing." But, there is a big difference between getting "something for nothing"—and—getting "nothing for something."

To illustrate... A fellow was disturbed about a personal problem. Pride kept him from discussing it with anyone he knew, so he sought advice from a fortune teller. It was fully agreed between the two of them that the troubled man could ask only two questions for a $25.00 fee. The man paid the fee and as he sat down, he commented, "Don't you think your fee is awfully steep to answer just two questions?" The fortune teller's reply jolted him: "No, I certainly don't. Now... what is your second question?" The shaken man countered with, "Surely, you don't consider that a question, do you?" He was flabbergasted when the fortune teller answered, "Of course, it was a question; you have now asked two questions and I answered them. Thank you for coming in, and good day, sir."

The story is fiction of course. But next week's article will relate a true life story; a classic example how sharpies can and do give "nothing for something." Be sure you read it.

Hudson Valley Relays Slated May 13 at New Paltz Central

JOHN FERRARO

HAROLD BROSKIE

RANDY KELDER

Induction Set June 3

Ferraro, Kelder and Broskie Elected to KBA Hall of Fame

Three of the city's all-time bowling greats — John Ferraro, Randy Kelder and Harold Broskie — were tapped today for charter membership in the Kingston Bowling Association's newly created Bowling Hall of Fame.

The KBA's Hall of Fame Committee said the designations were unanimous. The trio will be inducted at a dinner on Saturday, June 3, at the Governor Clinton hotel.

William Einkenkel of New Paltz, the association president, said that three other bowling figures would be cited for distinguished service to the sport and three others would be honored posthumously.

In order to qualify for nomination, a bowler must have been identified with the sport in their particular category at least 15 years.

Ferraro Is No. 1

John Ferraro is generally acclaimed as the No. 1 all-time bowling great in Kingston and a selection for any all-Hudson Valley quintet.

Bowler and proprietor for nearly 40 years, he holds the city scoring record of 818, rolled off games of 298, 279 and 241. He is credited with one sanctioned "300" and at least a dozen others in open play. He also has rolled two 298's and 299's in ABC sanctioned play and has fired more than one hundred 700 triples.

Ferraro holds the Hudson Valley League average record of 213 and was a member of the Jones Dairy squad that set a city and valley record with a 3413 in 1951 and the Jones squad that posted 3075 for the all-time KBA record in 1954.

His seven KBA all-events titles place him at the top of the list in that category. He also rolled with six championship teams and several singles and doubles.

The Ace, as he is known in the trade, also won two New York State singles title and one in all-events. The number of local and area teams he has anchored to championships with 200-plus averages is too great to list in detail.

Six Championships

Harold Broskie was a member of six KBA championship teams and with Ferraro shared the 3414 and 3075 records. A four-time 200 average bowler, his best figure was 202 in the Hudson Valley League. He was a member of numerous local and area championship teams.

Broskie has one "300" to his credit and a 298 in sanctioned play. He has rolled more than fifty 700 triples with a career high of 757. In KBA competition, he won two doubles titles, singles and all events.

Perhaps the city's most durable star, Broskie has rolled several times a week for nearly thirty years. He has competed in numerous state and national tournaments.

644 in ABC Singles

As far back as 1937, Randy Kelder was good enough to roll 644 in the first ABC tournament ever staged in New York City. Since then he has compiled a glittering array of records.

His KBA record is one of the best with four team championships, five doubles and three all-events. He has rolled a dozen 700 series, with a high of 728. His best solo is a 290, which he hit twice.

Kelder twice averaged 199, missing the 200 mark by six pins in the HVBL and has consistently averaged better than 190 for three decades. Like Ferraro and Broskie, he has sparked innumerable teams to local and area championships.

The June 3 banquet is open to the public and tickets may be purchased from any member of the Kingston Bowling Association's executive committee.

Annual Event Will Be Held For 16th Time

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

One of the top track and field events in the State — the Hudson Valley Relays — will take place for the 16th time Saturday, May 13 at New Paltz Central School.

This annual spring carnival is a fixture at New Paltz and has been received with resounding success during its first 15 years. The large eight-lane quarter mile track promises to be in excellent condition this year, according to chairman Larry Johnson, athletic director at New Paltz.

"Weather permitting, we will have asphalt runways for the long jump, triple jump, two high jump and two pole vault pits," Johnson said.

Two Special Events

Features of the day-long event will be the Special Invitation 100-yard dash and the Special Invitation Mile Run. In both events, eight of the fastest boys, on the basis of times made in competition, are selected to compete for special trophies.

Record holders in the events are Andrew Spodis of Hudson with a 9.6 clocking in the 100 and John Tweedy (Kingston) with a 4:25.9 time in the mile. Spodis set his mark in 1959 and Tweedy's record was established last year.

Other competition will be held in the 440-yard run, 880-yard spring relays and one and two mile relays. In addition, 180-yard low hurdles and all field events are scheduled.

Competition will take place in three classes. Class I includes all schools with more than 450 boys registered in grades 9-12. Class II is for schools with 200-449 boys and Class III is for schools with 1-199 boys.

Prizes for each event will include trophies for the winners, silver medals for the runners-up and ribbons for third and fourth place finishers.

Victory plaques will be awarded schools represented by winning relays teams.

It is expected that more than 1,000 participants will take part in the meet. Entry blanks will be mailed shortly to most of the schools between Westchester County and Albany.

Award Trophies To CYO Champs At St. Joseph's

St. Joseph's parish distributed 80 trophies to its CYO basketball champions at the annual awards dinner attended by more than 200 persons in the parish hall.

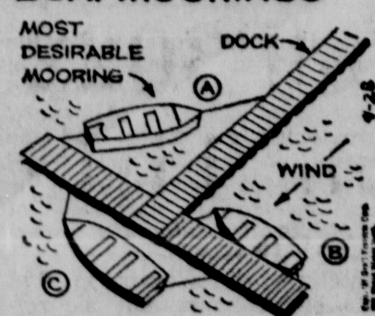

John B. Kress, associate director of specialized physical education at West Point, was the principal speaker in the program were: the Rev. John T. Mulligan, assistant pastor and CYO parish moderator; Dick Terlingen, coach; Mike Cronin, basketball director; Leo A. Schupp, Ulster County CYO director; Frank Argulewicz, Holy Name Society president; and John Sullivan, banquet chairman.

John Gilligan, basketball and tennis coach at Kingston High, was the toastmaster. St. Joseph's teams captured seven basketball championships during the 1966-67 season, including three county titles. They were undefeated in Jayvee, Junior and Intermediate divisions. Tyro I and Pee Wees were second in their divisions.

Jayvees and Intermediates won CYO Upstate Archdiocesan championships and an all star team placed second in the first annual Coleman School tournaments. Juniors were runners-up in the Upstate competition.

The guest speaker urged his listeners to "fight inactivity." "We should fight inactivity, we need activity and not TV activity," he warned. He mentioned a sign at West Point which said: "There is nothing that destroys the human body any more than rest. Physical activity is important from the start in life and it should continue."

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

FOR EITHER PERMANENT OR TEMPORARY USE, MOORING (A) PREVENTS WINDS—FROM ANY DIRECTION—FROM SMASHING A BOAT AGAINST THE DOCK. IT IS THE BEST OF THE THREE MOORINGS SHOWN.

MOORINGS (B) AND (C) SHOULD ONLY BE TEMPORARY—WIND'S DIRECTION SHOULD DETERMINE WHICH MOORING TO USE HERE.

(C) MAY BE USED, THUS, IF A WIND BLOWING IN THE DIRECTION AS SHOWN, BUT IT IS UNSAFE IF THE WIND SHIFTS.

MOORING (B) IS UNWISE IF WIND BLOWS IT TOWARD DOCK.

Adult Participation Disappointing

Little League Baby Sitters? Could Be, Say Some Officials

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

Are the Kingston area Little Leagues, in common with thousands across the country, deteriorating into professional baby sitting groups?

Answer: Maybe not, but a recent survey of problems plaguing area leagues revealed that at least two presidents believed this to be so. The two, with strong convictions on the matter, preferred to remain anonymous.

"As I watch adult participation and support of Little Leagues steadily decline, I must admit I get the feeling we're running some kind of baby sitting agency," said one.

"Apathy on the part of some parents of Little Leaguers is shocking," said another. "You know we laugh about parents using the Boy Scouts, Brownies, Girl Scouts and other service groups for baby sitters, but there's nothing to laugh about in some Little Leagues."

There is also the eternal problem of getting enough parents to serve as coaches, managers and umpires. The latter is a crucial matter in some leagues.

Vandalism Rampant

Then there is always vandalism. Much of it goes unreported but it happens and never seems to end. League officials diligently repair the damages to their ball park and facilities, generally say nothing and pray it doesn't happen again.

The National Little League down through the years has been a sitting duck for vandals, presumably older lads who find a sadistic delight in wrecking ball parks used by the small fry—and perhaps by themselves in an earlier era.

Since the 1966 season, vandals inflicted at least $450 damage on the National LL facilities at Kingman Park. They ripped out all the wood benches, dugout seats—anything made of wood, it seems—and burned it all.

"Probably to keep warm during the skating," a National LL official observed sardonically.

Urban Renewal Hurts

The downtown urban renewal project also has raised havoc with registration for the National but these difficulties will be solved.

"We have plenty of difficulty getting umpires," said a NLL man. "We could use some help with managers and coaches, too."

Ben Gulnick, president of the Town of Ulster league, said the adults as a whole were not cooperating.

"There is always that hard core of dedicated parents," he noted, "but percentage-wise the participation is poor."

Low Kirschner, Town of Esopus Legion LL president, was the most optimistic of all the presidents interviewed.

"Things are in pretty good shape," he said. "We don't have any trouble recruiting players, coaches, managers or umpires. Like everybody else we could get better support from the parents."

Registration Difficulty

A problem unique with the Kingston Jayvees organization was revealed by its president, George Krom.

"We have difficulty in registering all the eligible players in our district," he said. "The problem varies from year to year but we know some parents just won't take time out to bring their kids to the field for registration. As a result they don't get to play Little League ball."

Like other leagues, the Jayvees draw on a small dedicated group of adult workers, but the percentage never comes up to expectations.

LITTLE LEAGUE—3

Hurley Little League solved the umpire dilemma by recruiting a group of high school boys in the 16-19 year age bracket.

"It has worked out very well," said president Chester Schramm, who at the moment had two more vexing problems.

"Right now we're short a couple of officers—first and second vice presidents," said Schramm. "Both were moved out of the territory."

While Hurley boasts of an excellent mothers auxiliary, there is poor participation by the fathers. The league attracts more boys than it can handle and that small corps of workers who respond do an excellent job.

Teenage Umpires Schramm seemed highly pleased by the performance of the teenage umpires. "They've developed much better than we expected," he said.

Paul Schleede, president of the Kingston American league, made an observation that will come as a shock to many people. "I believe that fifty per cent of the parents in our league never get to see their children play," he said. "That does sound like baby sitting, doesn't it?"

Schleede also disclosed rampant vandalism at the American LL park. "We've been hit at least 37 times over the years," he said. "It was the organization of a club with the not too subtle name 'Do Nothing Club.'"

It means just what it says," Schleede remarked. "If the parents feel they can't devote some time to the league, then they can donate $5 to the treasury. That way we can pay people to do the work they should be doing."

It sounds like a splendid idea that might be adopted by other leagues. Think it over, men.

Dethrones Emile Griffith

Hail Benvenuti New Golden Boy of Boxing

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Boxing had a new Golden Boy today in handsome Nino Benvenuti, Italy's first world middleweight boxing champion on his decisive upset of Emile Griffith in a spectacular 15-round fight.

"Sure, I'll be happy to fight him again," said the 28-year-old as he left Madison Square Garden Monday night with the resounding cheers of the pro-Benvenuti crowd of 14,251 still ringing in his ears after his unanimous decision victory.

"We'd like to put on the return bout in the Garden in July," said Harry Markson, the Garden's director of boxing who was pleased with the $141,799 gate for the televised fight.

"It was a sensational fight and should be a complete sell-out. There's a handshake agreement between the managers for the return fight, but I'd like to get it on paper."

Benvenuti, called The Intellectual in Italy because he likes to read books and talk about them, certainly had the book on the 29-year-old Griffith.

Both Are Floored

The fast-punching Italian, taller by 3½ inches and heavier by 5½ pounds—159 to 153½, dropped the 13-5 favored champion in the second round with a short right and was floored himself by a long right in the fourth.

Nino used his weight, height and reach — 75 inches to 72 — advantages effectively, spearing his foe with stiff left jabs, snapping left hooks and right and left uppercuts to the head. When Griffith tried to storm in, Nino met his rushes with well-timed blows to the head.

The pro-Benvenuti crowd roared "Nee-no, Nee-no, Nee-no" as the challenger finished with a flourish, taking the final round with a determined attack even though he had the decision wrapped up.

Referee Mark Condon and judge Leo Birnbaum each had Benvenuti the winner on rounds, 10-5. Judge Al Berl had it 9-5 for Nino. The Associated Press scorecard had Benvenuti in front, 10-5.

The challenger was nicked on the bridge of his nose in the second round and cut deeply in the same place by an accidental butt in the seventh round. Griffith's left eye was half closed and he was lumped under the right eye.

"I knew I had him after the sixth round," said Benvenuti. "I trained for this like I never trained before. I wanted very much to knock him out but I'm very happy that I won. I wanted it so much."

Wants Return Bout

"The kid won a beautiful fight," conceded Griffith. "He's a wonderful champion, and I hope to fight him again. I enjoyed the fight. I really did."

"But even Sandy Koufax got knocked out of the box once in a while."

Griffith referred to the former pitching great of the Los Angeles Dodgers who retired from baseball after last season.

Wiltwyck Women In Fashion Show

Wiltwyck Country Club women began their season with a fashion show recently at the club.

Mrs. George Riftenbary was the commentator and models were Mrs. Charles Spiesman, Mrs. Philip Battaglia, Mrs. Alvin Motzkin, Mrs. Robert Merritt, Mrs. Howard DeWitt, Mrs. Kenneth Lowe and Mrs. George Goldfarb. Golf fashions from Kaye Sportswear were modeled.

Chairman of the social was Mrs. Lowe, assisted by Mrs. Spiesman, Mrs. William McCullen, Mrs. Battaglia, Mrs. Robert Yallum, Mrs. Arthur Landesman, Mrs. Charles King, Mrs. Richard Davenport, Mrs. Jim Penrose, Mrs. Arthur Davis Jr., Mrs. Joseph Erena, Mrs. Douglas Kennedy and Mrs. Ray Sawyer.

The opening luncheon is scheduled May 3. A blind partner nine hole tournament will begin the proceedings.

ALL Tryouts

Tryouts for the Kingston American Little League will be held Saturday, April 22, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon at the league diamond. In the event of rain, the tryouts will be held on April 29.

Griffith had won eight straight title fights as a welterweight and then middleweight champion.

He won the middleweight crown from Dick Tiger a year ago and then beat Joey Archer in two defenses, all in New York. His overall record is 52-8.

Benvenuti's record is 72-1. His only defeat was a disputed 15-round decision that cost him the world junior middleweight crown at Seoul, South Korea, last June 25. He was edged by Korean Ki Sim-Soo.

Carvello Birds In Race Sweep

Birds owned by Mary Ann Carvello of Poughkeepsie swept the first three places in the Kingston-Ulster Racing Pigeon Club's 180-mile race from Deepwater, N. J.

The winning pigeon negotiated the distance at an average speed of 1330.530 yards per minute. The runnerup bird was clocked in 1330.043.

Mary Carvello is only 11 years old and the sweep of the first three places was an unprecedented accomplishment.

Twenty two lofts entered 288 birds in the competition. The weather was partly cloudy, with southwest winds at the point of liberation.

Order of finish: 1. Mary Ann Carvello, Poughkeepsie, 1330.530; 2. Carvello, 1330.043; 3. Carvello, 1325.698; 4. Pat Armato, Gardiner, 1323.056; 5. Tony Lanzarone, Highland, 1314.009; 6. John Buckman, Kingston, 1301.621; 7. Fred Polizzi, Mt. Marion, 1287.767; 8. Harry Scales, Saugerties, 1281.182; 9. Lee Behenke, Highland, 1280.086; 10. Ray Wisk, Tilton, 1263.475.

Next Sunday's race will be a 250-mile event from Washington, D. C.

Roosevelt Pace To Slick Yankee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Slick Yankee, a 4-year-old gelding with a penchant for mud, came from behind to defeat favored Spinabout by three-quarters of a length and won the $4,000 pace at Roosevelt Raceway Monday night.

Driver Frank Darish guided the gelding over the mile in a quick 2:05 4-5 on a track turned sloppy by heavy rain. Mr. Lucifer finished third in the event, the highlight of the night's harness action at tracks in New York State.

Slick Yankee returned $13.

In action at other harness ovals:

Batavia Downs — Worthy Dream Girl ($5.60), a 6-year-old bay mare, edged favored Blue Brother by a neck and won the $1,200 pace in 2:09 2-5. Clever Bill was third.

Saratoga Raceway — Annie Dell ($21.20) defeated Madrid Hanover by two lengths in 2:23 1-5 over a sloppy track and won the $750 pace. Rock Chief finished third.

16th Straight Kayo For Dave Zyglewicz

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas heavyweight champion Dave Zyglewicz of Houston, formerly of Watervliet, N.Y., hacked away at Dave Centi of Eugene, Ore., Monday night, halting Centi at 2:57 of the third round. Zyglewicz, 5-foot-10, weighed 187 and Centi, who is 6-4, was a massive 236.

The knockout was Zyglewicz' 16th victory in a row.

Jim Harter Elected Captain Of Army Wrestling Squad

Jim Harter, who entered West Point as only one of 991 candidates in 1964, won the 177-pound Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Assn. championship and was fourth in the NCAA meet at Kent, Ohio, accounting for all eight Army points.

The California resident was recently named Army's wrestling captain for 1967-68 and will lead the Cadets in their rigorous schedule, which includes the likes of Maryland, Syracuse, Lehigh and Navy.

Army mat coach LeRoy Alitz attributes Harter's success this past winter to a marked improvement in his attitude. "Jim has always had the ability to be a really fine wrestler," coach Alitz opines, "yet until this year seemed to be holding back. His confidence has skyrocketed, he's matured considerably over the past year and he has learned to give more of himself now than ever before," he adds.

Unbeaten as Fresh

From his very first Plebe season, Harter has been a consistent winner for the Cadets. As a Plebe (or freshman) Jim was undefeated in eight dual meets, won three times by fall and went on to capture the 177-pound title in the annual Plebe Invitation tournament against some of the top freshmen wrestlers in the East.

Jim moved into the varsity ranks as a sophomore, but in his first bout dropped a decision to Bob Karch of Maryland. He was a winner the next eight times, though, and finished the season with an 8-1 record, best on the varsity team. In the Eastern meet at Pittsburgh, Harter gained the finals only to suffer a loss to Fran Ferraro of Cornell.

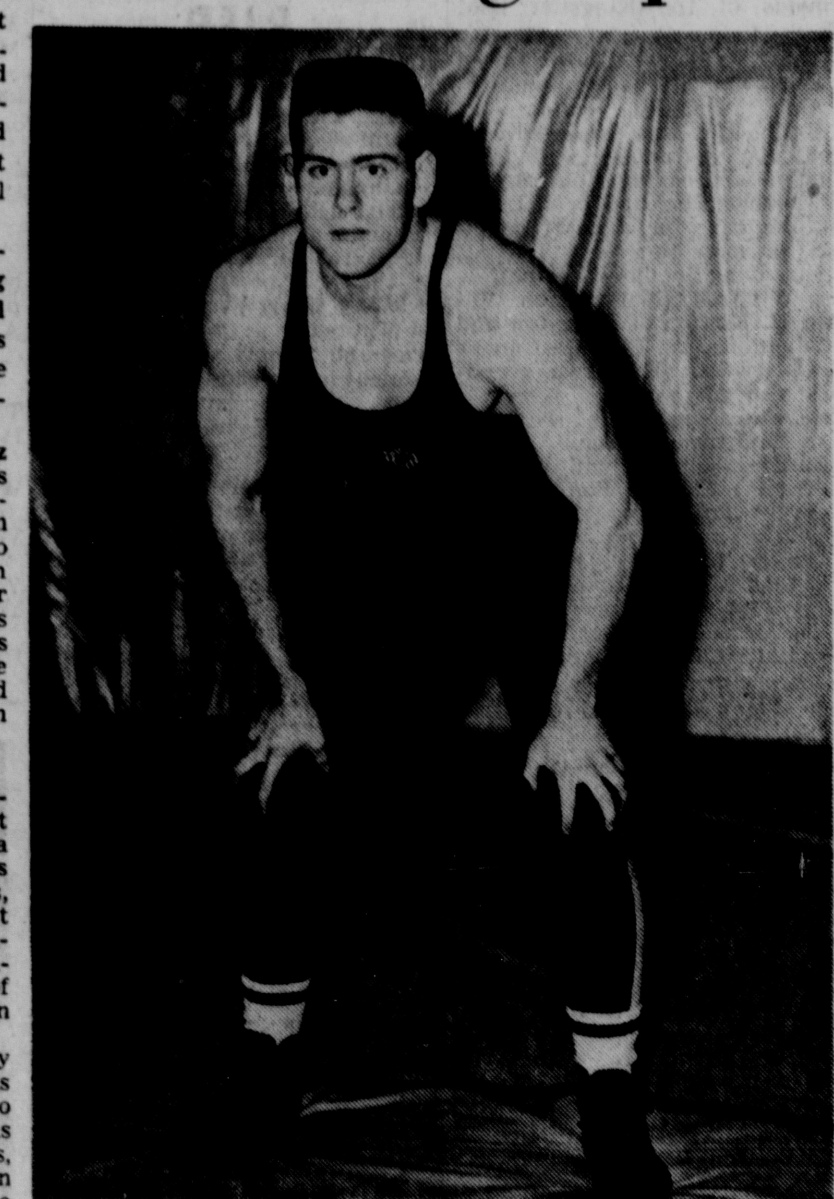

The 1966-67 campaign started on a bright note, with Jim winning his first five meets before going to the sidelines temporarily with a shoulder injury. He returned in time for the Syracuse meet, however, and won by fall to help the Cadets to a some-from-behind 23-16 victory.

Lost to Navy

Harter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Harter of 8516 Troy Street, Lemon Grove, Calif., was undefeated going into the season's finale with Navy, but his quest for an unbeaten season was spoiled when Navy captain Dave Palmer eked out a 4-2 decision. Now all that remained was the Easterns and the NCAA meet.

To win the Easterns, Jim had to wrestle four times. He started by defeating Tim Diechert of Rutgers and Cliff Ensley of Syracuse. He then outpointed Joe Caprio of Lehigh, 3-2, in the semi-finals before defeating top-seeded Rich Lorenzo of Penn State for the title.

Kent, Ohio, was the next step, and here Harter more than held his own against the cream of the collegiate crop. Mitch Gurdus of Toledo, Caprio of Lehigh and Jim Duschon of Iowa State fell by one, and suddenly Jim was in the semi-finals. Eventual champion Fred Fozzard ended Harter's climb, but Jim recovered in the consolation to nail down a respectable fourth place.

JIM HARTER

Serving as captain of any athletic team is no easy chore, yet with the experience gained both mentally and physically this year, Jim Harter should more than handle the assignment in 1967-1968.

Hawks Blast Delays by TV

TORONTO (AP) — Facing possible elimination in the Stanley Cup semifinal series against Toronto tonight, Coach Billy Reay of the Chicago Black Hawks sharply criticized the delaying of hockey games because of television commercials.

Action repeatedly was halted in Saturday's 4-2 loss to Toronto in Chicago in order to complete commercials while referee John Ashley waited for the go-ahead from the broadcast booth.

"If they want to televise hockey," moaned Reay, "then they have to adapt to the game. We've been drilled that this is a game of continuous action."

"Now all of a sudden, we have to wait for commercials. If a coach argues and causes a delay in the game, whack, he's slapped with a penalty."

"This is a game of constant action. It always has been, and that's the way it should be played. There's nothing more frustrating for the players than to have to stand around and wait to get started again. Especially so when one team is hot."

Gets Niagara Job

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Thomas W. Hargrave, a former assistant track coach at Tulane University, has been appointed track and cross-country coach at Niagara University. It was announced today.

He succeeded Paul J. McDonnell, who coached both teams for six years.

Hargrave ran on the track and cross-country teams at Tulane.

Cardwell Turns on Pirates

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN PITTSBURGH (AP) — New York Met pitcher Don Cardwell is giving his old Pittsburgh Pirate teammates something to remember him by—headaches.

Cardwell, frequently the butt of jokes by Pirate fans for his inability to complete more than one game last season with the Bucs, went 7 2/3 innings Monday night and was credited with a 9-6 victory over the Pirates.

What's more, he slammed a home run over the 406-mark in left center, driving in two runs. "I like to beat anybody, not only the Pirates," said the 31-year-old right-hander when asked if he received any particular kick in beating his former teammates.

Cardwell expressed some bitterness when he was traded to the Mets last December after four seasons with the Bucs, saying Pirate Manager Harry Walker didn't use him right last year. "There's no longer any animosity between Walker and me," Cardwell said. "I said something and it was my opinion."

One Complete Game

Last year, Cardwell appeared in 32 games, started 14, completed one and wound up with a 6-6 record with the Pirates who finished third in the National League race.

Although it's early in the season, the veteran pitcher seems stronger on the mound as evidenced in Monday night's performance and in his season opener last Wednesday, also against the Pirates.

In that game, Cardwell pitched like a winner, but the Mets played like losers, committing five errors. He held the Pirates at bay until the ninth inning when they broke a 3-2 tie and won 6-3, handing Cardwell the loss.

The story was reversed Monday night with the Mets jumping off to a 9-3 lead at the end of five innings. The Pirates, tabbed by the oddsmakers as the National League team to beat this year, committed four errors in those five innings and over-all used five pitchers who gave up 11 hits.

Cardwell's homer, the 15th of his career, came in the second with Jerry Grote on with a double.

Willie Stargell smacked a two-run homer in the eighth off Cardwell. Ron Taylor came on in relief to preserve the victory despite giving up a pinch-hit homer to Manny Jimenez with two outs in the ninth.

The game was the only one played Monday in the majors. The others, Chicago at Philadelphia, Washington at New York and Cleveland at Minnesota, were rained out.

Greenwich Bowler

Paces WIBC Singles

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Mary Lane of Greenwich, Conn., rolled a three-game series of 632 Monday to take the lead in the Division I singles competition of the woman's International Bowling Congress Tournament.

Miss Lane, a 163-average bowler, strung together games of 214-224-194. At home, she bowls in three leagues a week. This is her third WIBC appearance.

There were no other significant changes in the standings in the tourney's fifth day.

In Movies

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Paul Hornung, veteran professional football halfback, will play the part of a lumberjack in a movie called "The Devil's Brigade."

Camilla Tompkins contributed a career high triple of 554 to Stevens' 2947. The team opened with 1002 gross. Jean Hain's career-first 201 and 488 sparked Alamo's to a 1068 finale and 2928.

Other Leaders

Also in the money were Joseph's Noisemakers and Vinnie Lou's with 2923; Alley Cats, 2918; Mike's Country Store, 2891; and Honey Buns, 2878.

Maryann Maines' 225 was highest single in the team event and Camilla Tompkins' 554 took triple honors.

Doubles and singles are scheduled April 21, 22, 23 at the Saugerties Bowling Center.

Potter's, Hurley Sand-Gravel Lead Colonial Tournery Teams

Potter Brothers soared into the lead with a 3225 gross and Hurley Sand and Gravel took over with 2919 in the net division, as Kingston teams dominate the standings in the third annual Colonial City tournament at Sangi's Bowlero.

Four area teams trail Potters in the handicap shooting, with Lockwood Movers of Saugerties second with 3222.

Rounding out the top five are Snyder Refrigeration, Saugerties, 3209; Kingston Coal and Oil, 3169; and DiPeri's Auto Service, 3148.

Screaming Eagles of Kingston are runners-up with 2904 in the net division.

Pagnotti's Fall

The highly touted Pagnotti Coals of Old Forge, Pa. rolled twice but 2867 was the best they could do.

A youthful area team, Potter's fired 2628 net and had 597 pins handicap to take over first place. Best series was the 563 by Tyler Tomshaw in the anchor slot. John Spada rolled 637 for Lockwood Movers who posted 2712-510-3222.

Irv Brown shot 603 for Kingston Coal, while Bud Holt (604) and Fred Allen (600) paced Oehler's Mountain Lodge.

Joe Wilson's 626 led Screaming Eagles to second net with 625. Bruce Hinkley decked 247-606 and Marty Hammer had 613.

Tim Bilyeu, the Ellenville star, took over individual honors with a 662 series, replacing George Chiarmonte of Newburgh who had 658-282.

Scouts Reelect Watson President At Annual Confab

Thomas J. Watson Jr., chairman of the board of IBM, was reelected president of the Boy Scouts of America at the 57th meeting of the National Council, April 13-14 in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Local delegates to the convention included Rip Van Winkle Council President Oliver Tweedy of Hurley, Council Executive Alex Macdonald, also of Hurley and Council Advancement Committee Chairman Harry Slobodan of Saugerties.

The meeting opened with a luncheon on Thursday with Michael Demarest, senior editor of Time Magazine, featured speaker. Demarest said, "To enrich the imaginations and enlarge the skills of the young has always been the objective of the Scoutmaster—a man who moonlights not for financial gain but only for the reward of seeing the young achieve their potential."

Schenkel Speaks
Another featured speaker was sportscaster Chris Schenkel who said, "Scouting skills provide some of the tools and machinery a boy can use to help build himself into a better man."

General Howard K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, was awarded the Silver Buffalo, Scouting's highest honor at an appreciation dinner Thursday which cited nine outstanding Americans. Friday highlights included the announcement of the retirement of Chief Scout Executive Joseph H. Brunton on Sept. 30. The new chief Scout executive selected by the National Council Executive Board will be Aiden G. Barber, presently serving as Scout executive of the Chicago Area Council. High tribute was paid to Brunton for his devoted and exceptional service to the Boy Scouts of America.

Set Idaho Jamboree
An international luncheon was also held on Friday which focused on World Scouting and plans for the XII World Jamboree to be held for the first time in this country in Idaho this August with 14,000 Scouts from over 80 nations in attendance. Chief speaker at the luncheon was Dr. Gustavo J. Vollmer, World Scouter from Caracas, Venezuela.

Following afternoon Council management sessions covering various phases of the Scouting program the meeting closed with the traditional annual banquet which featured remarks by Watson.

Watson stated—"It seems to me that the Scouting movement has tried over the years to hold before young Americans great examples of living and achievement. Scouting seeks to inspire young Americans not only to admire but to follow these examples—to take the risks that lead to leadership, the kind of leadership that makes people count on you, the kind of leadership that I believe leads to a unique form of personal happiness."

Relates Drug Ills To Coppolino Jury

By DON NORTH

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — A doctor who once had himself experimentally injected with the paralytic drug succinylcholine testified in the Carl Coppolino murder trial Monday that he would have died in pain without artificial respiration.

"Within 30 seconds I felt cramping pains in my legs, arms and chest," said Dr. Valentino Mazzia, professor and chairman of anesthesiology at New York University.

Unable to Move
In another 30 seconds, Mazzia continued, he was completely unable to move and could not even ask his colleagues for water although his mind was alert to what was happening.

Mazzia said his facial muscles went limp almost immediately and the paralysis spread quickly to his arms, legs, trunk, chest and finally the diaphragm — stopping voluntary breathing. Mazzia and Dr. Bert La Du, professor and chairman of pharmacology at NYU, took the stand for the prosecution while the court studied a defense motion aimed at bringing the trial to conclusion without a jury decision.

Coppolino, 34-year-old anesthesiologist, is on trial for first-degree murder in the death of his first wife, Carmela, in 1965. The state says Coppolino gave her a fatal injection of succinylcholine to clear the way for his marriage to a wealthy divorcee.

Sought to Pull Rug
Chief defense lawyer F. Lee Bailey sought to pull the rug out from under the state's case with a motion to strike six days of testimony by two star prosecution witnesses — Drs. Milton Helbern and Charles J. Umberger of the New York medical examiner's office.

The state has said it bases its circumstantial evidence case against Coppolino mainly on the opinions of Helbern and Umberger that the woman died of "a toxic overdose of succinylcholine." These opinions, together with La Du's, were the sole evidence of cause of death — an essential to continuing the trial. Without a "criminal agent," the defense would be in a position to move for a directed verdict of acquittal.

Cite Analysis Report
The defense argued that the testimony should be thrown out because Helbern based his expert opinion on the cause of death on the opinion of Umberger, whose report on an analysis of body organs listed succinylcholine.

"The opinion of an expert cannot, under the law, be based on the opinion, inference or conclusions of others," said James McEwen, defense co-counsel. "The testimony of Umberger doesn't carry the case," said Bailey. "It was a highly experimental, novel effort."

Asst. State Atty. William Strode told the judge that to rule out Helbern's testimony would be giving "a license to kill." He said it is "manifestly impossible" for a medical expert to conduct personally all experiments.

Queen Unrecognized

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Mrs. Francis Kirby, admissions clerk at Oklahoma City University, explained to the pretty coed at the counter that the girl could not enroll early for next September's classes.

But, the girl protested, she had received permission for the early enrollment because of her heavy schedule.

What heavy schedule? Well, all those appearances around the country.

Mrs. Kirby, somewhat embarrassed, then realized she had not recognized OCU's most famous student — Jane Ann Jayroe, Miss America of 1967.

The early enrollment was completed quickly.

Wants Judges Elected

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — In a proposal to remove "undue" political influence in the selection of judges, three citizens' groups suggest a new section on the judiciary in the state's Constitution.

The League of Women Voters, the Citizen's Union and the Committee for Modern Courts banded together Monday to urge that judges be elected rather than appointed and that justice of the peace courts be eliminated.

The measure was to be put before the State Constitutional Convention by Supreme Court Justice William B. Lawless of Buffalo, who said he had not formed an opinion on all the proposals.

Under terms of the resolution, the governor would appoint judges to the Court of Appeals, Supreme Court and family, county or district courts with jurisdiction in more than one county.

A county executive or chief executive officer would appoint judges to the family, county or district courts within a county. The district courts, staffed with full-time professional judges, would replace the present justice of the peace and village courts.

Appointments would be made from lists submitted by a nominating committee of four non-lawyers, four lawyers and a judge.

Note Pressmen Negotiating With Five Newspapers

NEW YORK (AP) — A second newspaper union, pressmen's local 2, has started secret contract negotiations.

Officials of the pressmen's union and representatives of five major New York City newspapers met for 2½ hours Monday.

The session was held in the law office of Theodore W. Kheel, chief mediator in negotiations between the five newspapers and the 10 unions in the industry.

Kheel said there was a voluntary embargo on public comment by either the pressmen's union or the publishers.

A similar embargo started April 5 on the negotiations between the Daily News and the printers' union.

The printers have been concentrating their pressure on the Daily News in recent weeks and have been negotiating directly with the newspaper rather than through the Publishers Association of New York City, of which all five newspapers are members.

In addition to the Daily News, the newspapers negotiating are the Times, World Journal Tribune, Long Island Daily Press and Long Island Star-Journal. The Post, the city's sixth major newspaper of general circulation, is not a member of the publishers association and is not involved in the current negotiations.

Attack Beatniks, Flag Burners at DAR Convention

By FRANCES LEWINE

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beatniks, hippies, flag burners and demonstrators came under attack as the Daughters of the American Revolution, an 184,000-member patriotic organization, opened its 76th Continental Congress.

From president General Mrs. William H. Sullivan Jr. to 70-year-old clergyman Norman Vincent Peale, the "beat generation" took a beating.

Joins Outcry
And one of the younger generation — David Lee Chernov, 21, a Redwood City, Calif., college student, who heads the Children of the American Revolution, joined the outcry.

He said he was "ashamed and embarrassed to have to admit that this group is part of our generation."

Dr. Peale told the packed DAR audience at Monday night's opening session there is a counter-revolution of "sing-out" youngsters who will defeat the "beards" and the beatniks. Dr. Peale said later he meant the moral rearmament movement of young people, who have taken the music of the beat generation, put new words to it and are making a world-wide tour singing of "God, Country, Ideals and Goodness."

Peale told the Daughters "keep on keeping the faith," because "the days of the beards and the beatniks are gone and fresh idealists with dreams in their hearts are coming back again."

Critical on New Left
He was highly critical of "the new left," whose labels he said included "never get a haircut, never shave, never take a bath."

"This movement is sick," he said, adding in reference to haircuts, "whenever a nation's women become like men and its men become like women, that nation is headed for oblivion." Peale said the "new left" really reached a new low in its long and sordid history Saturday in Central Park (New York) when the beatniks, the draft card burners, the demonstrators, actually burned the flag of the United States.

A Side Issue?

— technically, perhaps. But quality work is always the main issue with Smith Parish. That's why they have Lee Beadle (who's been expertly installing siding for over 19 years), on their staff.

If you need siding this year, get the best — get Smith Parish!
